WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Labor answered President Roosevelt's call for a conference seeking peace in the strife-ridden automotive industry here today.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, William Collins, A. F. of L. representative in Detroit, and representatives of the 13 automobile labor unions gathered for the meeting with Mr. Roosevelt.

Today's parley, scheduled for early afternoon, came 24 hours after the president called motor executives here to discuss the same problem.

Strike Held In Abeyance.
Meanwhile, workers held in abeyance until conferences are concluded, a general strike in the automotive industry. Whether the strike is called off or ordered later will depend upon the president's success or failure in settling the knotty dispute between executives and labor over recognition of unions.

The White House today was distinctly optimistic of success in bringing an amicable end to the dispute. Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson, who sat through the president's meeting with the auto chiefs, told Secretary of Commerce Roper afterward that the situation "looked good."

This was an abrupt switch from his feeling of Tuesday night when he would not risk a prediction of success.

Silent On Conference.
Participants in the executives' White House conference refused to talk as they emerged from the conclave. From other sources it was learned that Mr. Roosevelt directed

SPY RING COUPLE MAY BE PROSECUTED IN U. S.

(International News Service)
PARIS, Mar. 22.—The possibility that Robert Gordon Switz, young American aviator, and his wife, Marjorie, may be turned over to United States authorities for prosecution, arose this afternoon.

The Switzes, their lawyer, M. Moise declared, probably will be freed by the French government because in confessing they furnished complete details of the international Espionage plot.

If it is shown that the Switzes were also guilty of participation in the spy ring's activities in the United States it is believed they will be delivered to American detectives.

Insull Becomes Europe's New "Man Of Mystery"

(International News Service)
CAIRO, Mar. 22.—Samuel Insull today became Europe's new "man of mystery."

Practically every port along the Mediterranean and Aegean seas was keeping a sharp watch for the Greek freighter Maitis, bearing the 74-year-old ex-finance man who fled from Greece last week.

Every steamship and every wireless station was listening for the crackle of the Maitis' wireless set. Yet for more than 72 hours no word has been heard from the self-exiled Chicagoan who is wanted in Illinois to face indictments for violation of the federal bankruptcy laws. The man who once dominated a $2,000,000,000 utilities empire has been swallowed up, of his own volition, in the silences of the sea.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Mar. 22.—Slashing out with a beautiful 35, one under par, Paul Runyan, 25-year-old White Plains, N. Y., sensation, led Bobby Jones by a single stroke at the turn in Bobby's return to competition today at the Augusta national golf tournament.

Jones carded an even par 36. Runyan who had swayed along with an even par game through the first eight holes pulled a birdie three out of the bag on the 420-yard ninth while Bobby was down in even par four.

Jones had gone a short-lived lead on the 480-yard fourth when he copped a birdie four but young Paul Runyan hit on the next hole when Bobby's drive went into the rough and he had to take a five, one over par for the hole, while Runyan played his steady par game.

Of Tenement Brings Out
Amazing Story

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Mar. 22.—An attempt to burn to death a witness in a murder trial to start tomorrow may have caused the tenement fire which killed three children and four others yesterday.

This was the angle which the investigation of the cause of the fire before Chief Fire Marshal Thomas Brophy took today.

Brophy himself announced he had determined that the fire started near the doorway of the witness of the murder.

He would not name the man but independent questioning of the tenants of the ill-fated house brought out the story.

Angelo Cantato, near whose door the fire started, and his son, Bernard, 14, had witnessed the death by stabbing of their relative, Joseph Baldanza, last September in the doorway of the tenement house. There had been a quarrel about money, Baldanza, was stabbed and Cologero Minotta fled to West Virginia.

Minotta was indicted and brought back. His trial will start tomorrow. Threatening letters had been received by some who were to be witnesses.

Eastman Seeks An Agreement

Will Attempt To Compromise
Deadlock In Rail
Wage Situation

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Accepted to arbitrate their grievances, Joseph B. Eastman, federal coordinator of transportation, today started his attempt to compromise the deadlock between the railroads and the railroad brotherhoods over wages, by conferring with the operators.

This afternoon he will sit in with the representatives of the brotherhoods.

Eastman was suggested to serve as an umpire after A. F. Whitney, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives' association, declared "it is evident that nothing can be gained at this time by further discussions between our representative groups" and ended his conferences with the management.

The controversy started when the brotherhoods demanded restoration of the 1932 pay cut next July 1. The railroads retaliated by proposing an other pay slash of 15 per cent and President Roosevelt repeated his previous appeal to the railroads not to disturb existing levels.

Accuse Four Of Kidnaping Leechburg Girl

(International News Service)
LEECHBURG, Pa., Mar. 22.—Four men under arrest here today on charges of kidnaping Lilly Forney, 15 year old girl, who disappeared Saturday night.

Police refused to reveal the names of the men held. They were to be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Walter Goodbread later.

Saturday night, police said, the girl went to Appolo with Edward Porter, 25. There they met Porter's elder brother, William, who invited them into his automobile, according to the story told by Edward and the girl. They added that William beat Edward, threw him from the car and drove away with the girl, later picking up three other men. The quartet held her prisoner in a roadhouse near Braeburn until last night, police charged.

Edward, arrested on a charge of kidnaping at the parent's request, will be freed of the charges against him, authorities revealed.

Confesses To Killing Woman

Declined With Weird "Hex-

Woman

(International News Service)
SHENANDOAH, Pa., Mar. 22.—Declined with a weird belief that the woman had him "hexed," Albert Yashinsky, 24, of Shenandoah, today confessed the mysterious slaying of Mrs. Susan Mumme, 64, as the victim was being buried at Ringtown, according to police.

Mrs. Mumme was slain Saturday night as she and a daughter, Tavilla, were ministering to the needs of an ill lodger at the Mumme home by a "spook" ball fired through the front window.

Police said Yashinsky led them to a secluded spot in the mountainside in Ringtown Valley where they recovered parts of the 12-gauge shotgun used in the killing and that later the youth re-enacted the slaying.

They said he demonstrated how he crept up on the front porch shots through the window. One of the leaden pellets pierced the victim's heart.

Convinced that the woman had cast a spell over him, police said Yashinsky told them he came to this conclusion:

"I will have to kill her to break the spell."

Freezing Gale And Blizzard

TOKYO, March 22.—A freezing gale and blizzard-like snows added to the intense suffering of 150,000 residents of the seaport Hakodate, largest city in Northern Japan, who were homeless today following a devastating fire which destroyed four-fifths of the city and took a toll of lives officially estimated at more than 1,000.

Quick-piling snowdrifts which settled over the ruins of 25,000 homes while they still were smoldering hindered the work of the soldiery, marshalled to administer relief and made difficult the search for the bodies of further victims believed to have perished.

Survivors, fleeing before the flames, which spread rapidly through the frame dwellings before a 70-mile-an-hour gale, rushed to the seashore and clambered aboard ships in the harbor for protection.

The fire began yesterday when the chimney of a bathhouse was blown over, setting fire to a neighboring house. Soon all Hakodate, a city of 200,000 population, was a raging inferno which the mayor described in a radio message as "a living hell."

The fire, comprising one of the worst conflagrations in Japan's history, was finally checked at five o'clock this morning after burning 10 hours, but still raged in the suburbs.

As they entered, McKee grabbed a revolver and locked himself in a room. He later threw open the door and fired.

There was a time when nights were made to roam the lighted street, when we would gather and stay out till dawn and daylight meet, and sleep was then a thing to get when all things else were done, those were the days or rather nights, when we were out for fun. And oftentimes we met the man with milk upon his arm, and heard the roosters loudly crow on some adjoining farm. But those days now are gone I guess and nights are simply nights, when one gets home to sit around and doesn't bother sights. And arm chairs offer plenty ease, with soon the nightly hag, for daylight hunting isn't sport, it's thirty-two today.

REVEAL DUAL IDENTITY OF SLAIN BANDIT

Amazing Facts Are Uncovered

Slain Chicago Man Was Suave College Man And Noted Bandit

SOUGHT FOR YEARS BY POLICE OFFICERS

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Mar. 22.—Federal operatives and police, guided by fingerprint records, today traced an amazing nine year career of Frank Bandit and underworld killings to Fred C. Goetz, university of Illinois graduate, murdered Tuesday night by Cicero gangsters.

That Goetz, the suave college graduate, and "J. George Zeigler," the identity he adopted as a fugitive from the law, were the same persons was not suspected until federal operatives identified the murdered man from fingerprints.

Authorities revealed that "Zeigler" had been hunted by department of justice agents as one of the participants in the Kansas City Union Station massacre of a federal prisoner and four officers last June in an attempt to free Frank Nash.

As the reputed lieutenant of Fred "Killer" Burke, since imprisoned, "Zeigler" had been sought since 1925 as the man who arranged the machine gun slaughter of seven Bugs Moran gangsters in a North Side garage here on St. Valentine's day.

Senator David A. Reed Seeks Re-election By Conservative Republicans

By WILLIAM J. KELLY

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 22.—David A. Reed, senior U. S. senator from Pennsylvania, announced his candidacy for re-election here today.

Reed's formal announcement placed him in the primary battle for retention of his senatorial seat against Gov. Gifford Pinchot who is making his third bid for the national political office.

Reed, supported by the conservative wing of the Republican party, is expected to make a lone fight for re-nomination. Governor Pinchot will pin his hopes on defeating Reed on the support of liberals and independents and republicans who are in accord with the "New Deal" policies of the Roosevelt administration.

"I am formally declaring my candidacy for re-nomination and re-election as United States Senator," Reed said. "Petitions have been circulated by my friends in all of the counties of the state and these will be filed in Harrisburg tomorrow."

Roosevelt Opposed
President Roosevelt has indicated he does not favor this course. To date, however, he has taken no steps to prevent it. On the other hand, administration floor leaders privately expressed opposition to injecting a court fight into the present session, when all the administration's influence is needed to expand and protect the president's relief program.

Administration leaders feared strong opposition would develop to an administration measure if the court's force decided they were facing a direct battle this session on ratification.

them to act to avert a strike, and backed this up by outlining his powers to compel peaceful compromise.

Mr. Roosevelt holds a "big stick" in the form of his powers to license industry under the Industrial Recovery Act.

The president was thoroughly advised as to his authority in the dispute. He called Attorney General Cummings in for an hour's conference after the automobile executives left. Asked if he thought Mr. Roosevelt would win out in his move for peace, the attorney general finally said:

"I don't see many clouds up there in the sky."

Green and his colleagues came to the White House determined to ask that the president use his licensing power to settle the trouble if the automobile executives refused to yield to labor's demand. "The labor people want recognition of workers' representatives for collective bargaining whether those representatives be A. F. of L. men or not. The executives assert they will bargain collectively with the men, but not with the A. F. of L."

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes, your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute. See all drug stores. ©1931 C. M. Co.

New Trial Asked For Girl's Slayer

Petition Of John Mosez Presented And Testimony Is Ordered Written Out

Application for a new trial for John Mosez, convicted of murder with life imprisonment, in connection with the shooting of his sweetheart, Rose Balogh, was filed by his attorney, S. L. Clark, at court this morning.

The petition was short, merely claiming that there were errors in the trial, and that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence. Judge Hildebrand directed the stenographer to write out the notes of testimony.

After this is done the court will hear arguments on the application, and hand down a decision. If it is favorable a new trial will be granted and if it is not, Mosez will be sentenced.

Face Full of Pimples. Could Not Go Anywhere. Healed by Cuticura.

"My face was full of hard, red pimples. My skin was very sore and red and I could not go anywhere without everybody looking at me. The pimples were very itchy and I scratched them until they bled. I lost my night's sleep so many times I was disgusted.

"I tried different things, but without success. I happened to see an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. I bought more and after I had used three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment my face was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Anna Krouchick, 430 Emmett St., Scranton, Pa.

A DOLLAR WAVE is it worth a penny to save it?

DANDERINE insures your hair for a penny a day.

When you pay a dollar for a wave, Danderine will help you keep it. It isn't a sticky dress-ing, or an oily tonic, and it doesn't leave any telltale odor. Its fresh fragrance is gone quickly after applying, but not that marvelous effect of freshness and cleanliness!

When you've washed your hair, a little Danderine will keep it from going helter-skelter.

Use a dash of Danderine every day—every time you comb your hair—to be sure of your hair all day long! To know it's clean, and looks clean. To know it will stay as you arranged it. And to know that it's free from dandruff.

That's what moistening your comb with a few drops of Danderine will do. And what no amount of dry-combing will ever do. Nearly all hair needs the help that Danderine gives it. A dash of Danderine morning and night makes an amazing difference in the way any hair looks all the time! It doesn't affect the color.

With all the care you give your hair, it's a pity to omit this last touch that means so much. It's no trouble! Yet you can hardly believe anything so mild and pleasant as Danderine could bring such a change in the condition and ap-pearance of your hair and scalp. Just try it. You can buy Danderine at any drugstore for only thirty-five cents; larger sizes, 60c and $1.00.

Pittsburgh City Council Will Take Up Ordinance To Exterminate All Parrots

Test In House On Vets Bill

For Third Time House Is Asked To Reject Amendments Offered By Senate

PAY RESTORING BILL TROUBLESOME

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Another test on the issue of veterans benefits and restoration of the 15 percent federal pay cut confronted the house today.

For the third time, the house was asked by administration leaders to reject senate amendments to the independent offices supply bill, which restored the 15 percent pay cut and radically modified the original veterans economy act.

While leaders were hopeful of holding the house in line, they frankly feared the membership would break away and vote for the Stelwer-McCarran veterans amendment adopted by the Senate.

A warning that approval of the Senate amendments, estimated to cost the government $350,000,000 a year would bring a veto was before the house.

Chairman Woodrum (D) of Virginia of the house conference committee planned to ask the House to further insist on its disagreement with the Senate. This would force another vote in the Senate. He fears adoption of the Senate amendments would invite a veto.

Rep. Connery (D) of Massachusetts planned to force a vote both on restoration of the 15 percent pay cut and the Senate veterans amendment.

Pennsylvania Education Week Marks Hundredth Anniversary Of Public Schools

Dr. C. C. Green is busy spreading the germ of enthusiasm among local club goers, P. T. A. members, and Martin Gantz reunions, and as a result it looks like Pennsylvania Education Week (the first week of April) will be given its just dues in the way of celebrations in New Castle.

Pennsylvania Education Week is especially important this year, Dr. Green explains, because this year (1934) marks the 100th anniversary of the public school system in the state.

The Martin Gantz school reunion will take place at the senior high school that week and the superintendent is going to ask Herb McIlvenny and some of the other Martin Gantz supporters and main joists to cook up something special on the reunion program as a sort of 100th birthday recognition.

COUNTY CONTEST

Next Saturday, March 24, at New Wilmington, the county's music and literary contest will be held to determine who shall go to Oil City to take part in the North-western contest. The music department under the direction of Mr. McCullough is working hard in preparation for the event. The following are the entries and the numbers that they will present:

Orchestra: Holiday Sketches—Reiger; Barcarolle—Xaver Scharwenka.

Band: Bridal Song—Goldmark; Mystic Knight's Overture—Hil-dredth.

Girl's Chorus: Sweet Day—Handel; Prayer Perfection—Nielsen.

Boy's Chorus: Bend a Mere's Stream; Finlandia—Sibelius.

Mixed Chorus: Good Will and Peace—Christiansen; Good-night Beloved—Pinsuti.

Double Quartette: The Bluebirds—Leontovick; Oh, Month of May—Irish Melody.

Trombone Solo: Valse Fantaisie by Hartley—William Kildoo.

Oration: Taxation—Wayne Walker.

C. W. A. WORK PROGRESSES
Some twenty C. W. A. workers under the direction of Loy Gwin have made, and will make many needed improvements here. To date, they completed the laying of a drain, cut brush and removed stone from the athletic field in the way of outside improvements. When weather conditions are favorable they work on a road at the rear of the school building on which the school buses will turn.

Concerning the progress on the main school building, the Civil Workers have placed angle iron on the corners of the windows in the original part of the educational hall. Wood has been replaced where it has rotted and the windows have been made more weather proof. On the gymnasium floor, pads have been arranged on the radiators to protect players from serious injury.

Considering future plans, lumber is to be brought from one of the old district schools to construct a coal house for the manual training building.

MAKE NEW CAPES
The girls who are in the girls' chorus are busy these days making capes to wear for the contest which is to be held at New Wilmington on March 24.

The capes were cut out by the sophomore girls and each girl is to make her own cape. They are red saten lined with white saten and the collars are piped with white saten. These capes worn with white dresses will make very pretty costumes.

MUMPS EPIDEMIC
There are a large number of school students out of school on account of mumps. The number remains about the same as it has been.

PLAN FOR BASEBALL
Since basketball is over, there has been considerable talk about a baseball team this year. The prospects for a winning team cannot be even estimated as yet, for baseball has been out of the question for the last three years on account of the necessary funds. Just at present the CWA is working on the field and it would not be in any shape to hold practice even if the weather man did give us some real spring weather. The pitching staff will be the greatest problem unless Coach Spears can unearth an Earnshaw or Hubbell in the new material in school this year.

CHILDREN INNOCULATED
Wednesday, March 14, many children received the toxin-antitoxin which is given for the prevention of diphtheria. There were 48 in all who received it.

solidation of the less efficient school districts with stronger ones to cut down overhead.

What I want to urge is that, during this centennial celebration, we turn our thoughts to the almost insurmountable difficulties that were faced and conquered by those who founded our public school system and those who developed it to its present high point of efficiency.

From the faith and courage of these pioneers and leaders in the battle for free education for all our children, I am sure we can draw strength and confidence to enable us to carry on and meet and overcome every present-day problem.

All too few of us realize what a tremendous, history-making struggle occurred in Pennsylvania to get our free public school system started. It was not until 1834—more than 150 years after William Penn landed at New Castle—that free public school for all were actually established in Pennsylvania with state aid.

Back in 1834 the seeds of free public instruction had been sown when an act was passed requiring each county to provide free education for children whose parents were unable to pay for their schooling. But that meant, of course, that parents had to declare themselves to be paupers before their children could attend school at the expense of the county.

Many parents who were unable to pay tuition charges refused to call themselves paupers in order that their children could go to school free. The result was that many children got no chance to attend public schools.

This was one of the factors in the agitation for free public schools throughout the state. It is recorded that the Act of 1834 passed with almost no opposition. But in the year that followed serious opposition developed. Free schools became the leading issue. Legislators came to the 1835 session prepared to abolish the plan. Many were elected on such a platform. Some of the arguments used against free schools seem very silly to us now.

When repeal failed, largely as a result of the famous speech of Thaddeus Stevens in the state house of representatives, the way was cleared for the building up of our present system.

Even after that, however, the system was repeatedly under attack, especially during depression periods. But by 1873, when the present constitution was adopted, all question as to the state's duty to provide free education for her children was removed. The constitution provided:

"The General Assembly shall provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of public schools, wherein all the children of the Commonwealth above the age of six years may be educated."

Every citizen owes it to himself and to his children to get better acquainted with our public school system during the week of April 1 to 7, which has been set aside as Pennsylvania Education Week.

Let us take time then to find out for ourselves just what our schools are doing to guarantee to our children their heritage of a free public education, and to develop them into useful, intelligent citizens.

This was one of the factors in the agitation for free public schools throughout the state. It is recorded that the Act of 1834 passed with almost no opposition. But in the year that followed serious opposition developed. Free schools became the leading issue. Legislators came to the 1835 session prepared to abolish the plan. Many were elected on such a platform. Some of the arguments used against free schools seem very silly to us now.

When repeal failed, largely as a result of the famous speech of Thaddeus Stevens in the state house of representatives, the way was cleared for the building up of our present system.

Even after that, however, the system was repeatedly under attack, especially during depression periods. But by 1873, when the present constitution was adopted, all question as to the state's duty to provide free education for her children was removed. The constitution provided:

"The General Assembly shall provide for the maintenance and support of a thorough and efficient system of public schools, wherein all the children of the Commonwealth above the age of six years may be educated."

Every citizen owes it to himself and to his children to get better acquainted with our public school system during the week of April 1 to 7, which has been set aside as Pennsylvania Education Week.

Let us take time then to find out for ourselves just what our schools are doing to guarantee to our children their heritage of a free public education, and to develop them into useful, intelligent citizens.

Mr. and Mrs. Billig, of Sharon were guests over the week end of the latter's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Boyles, of the Eastbrook road.

Mr. and Mrs. Masteller, of Wilksburg, have been spending some time at Gardner, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Diller, and will remain for some time yet.

A lovely pair of Red birds have been flying around the first house at Gardner for several weeks, and last Sunday morning when a window was raised Sir Cardinal flew right into the house.

Sunday evening the children and grandchildren of Charles Benson, of Gardner gathered at the home to tender a surprise party to their father and also to their sister, Mrs. John Benson of New Castle, in honor of their birthdays which occur on the 13th and 14th, of March.

It was a genuine family reunion and was a happy occasion for all. The doors of the dining room were kept closed for a time and when they were opened the two honor guests were greatly surprised to see two beautiful birthday cakes whose lighted candles lit up the darkened room.

Mrs. Carl Johnson, assisted by her sisters, Mrs. Gray, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Benson, served a buffet lunch. There was an abundance of substantial and tempting dainties for all. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Benson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gray and children, Bobby, Evelyn and Dolores, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Benson and daughter Edythe Lou, Mr. and Mrs. Scott Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Johnson, children Ruth and Junior, John Benson, and the two honor guests, Charles Benson and Mrs. John Benson, who both received many useful gifts.

There was a delightful family party held last Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Glass in New Castle, in honor of the 38th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Zeigler of the Butler road. Their children and grandchildren and four special guests made a merry company of thirty-three. The daughters of the home served a delicious six o'clock dinner and there was lovely spirit of good will and kindness pervading the hours which followed. Here are the names of those enjoying this affair: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Moore, and children of Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. John Henderson and children of Castlewood, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Zeigler, Mr. and Mrs. Finley Weisz of Princeton, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Zeigler of New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Glass, Howard Zeigler at home and special guests Mr. and Mrs. James Cameron and Mr. and Mrs. Bayhem and the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Zeigler, who greatly appreciated this token of loving esteem by the members of their family.

Martin Gantz Clan To Meet April 12

Spring Reunion Will Be Held At Senior High School

The Martin Gantz clan will hold their Spring reunion in the Senior High school on the evening of Thursday April 12 at 8 o'clock. Election of officers will be held at this time and arrangements made for our big reunion to be held at the close of the school year. A very fine program has been arranged by Harry Urmon and Herman Hess to follow the business meeting and a time for visiting, and time for renewing old friendships will be allowed for.
The officers are hopeful that a large attendance will be had and ask that every one ever attending the Martin Gantz school be present. If you attended the reunion last June, and enjoyed it, you are asked to spread this good news to all your old school mates, and do your part in trying to get as many out to this Spring meeting as you can. You will meet many of your old pals, and will be glad you were there. If you are not on the roll yet, be sure to register as you enter the building as the officers are anxious to get the names of as many as would like to carry on this clan.

Don't forget the date, and your part is to come, and bring as many of your old class mates as you can get in touch with.
Who will be there? Well you will be surprised, but come and see. We know there will be many there that will be glad to meet you, and that you will find many you will be glad to see again.

Will Be Charged With Driving While Drunk

Smith Arrested Following North Jefferson Street Accident

Patrolman Thomas Jones last night arrested a man who gave the name of Archie Smith and today the defendant was ordered by Mayor Mayne in police court to be held on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. The man was arrested after his car had knocked down Mrs. Velma Biddle, 27, 17 West North street, at North Jefferson street and Sycamore way. It was alleged.
Patrolman Jones happened to be in the vicinity at the time of the accident. The auto continued north on North Jefferson street but stopped for the red light. It was there Jones took him into custody. A local physician examined Smith and said he was intoxicated. Smith said today he did not know his car hit Mrs. Biddle.
Mrs. Biddle sustained bruises.

Tells Why City Fund Refused

Hoskins Says Delinquent Taxes Not Acceptable As Security

Council has received a report from Harry Hoskins, city engineer, in regard to his conference with PWA officials in Washington relative to the city's request for a financial loan. The city sometime ago asked for $150,000, of which 30 per cent would be a grant. Should the money be not forthcoming it is probable the city may attempt to resurface thoroughfares and build sewers through an agreement with contractors under terms of which delinquent taxes would be offered as security for payment.

Hoskins reported the PWA approved the city plans insofar as the engineering is concerned but it developed that the legal lights of the PWA hesitated to approve the form of collateral, delinquent taxes, offered by the city.

The PWA told Hoskins that should the city offer general obligation bonds the money would be forthcoming immediately. In order to do this, however, council would have to increase the millage in the sinking fund and this increases taxes.

Members of council have decided, according to Hoskins, that inasmuch as some people here cannot pay their taxes now, it would be unfair to increase taxes and the original request made to the PWA will stand.
Should the PWA not grant the request the city may attempt to put through the program for the purpose of increasing employment and making improvements and guarantee payment with delinquent taxes.

(International News Service)
DUBLIN, Mar. 22.—The probability of abolition of the Irish Free State senate developed today in a grave crisis following the De Valera government's defeat in the senate last night, when the bill banning the wearing of blue shirts and other political uniforms was defeated, 30 to 18.

President Eamon Da Valera was expected to introduce into the dail eireann today a bill abolishing the senate, after the passage of which the government would go before the people in an election for support on the bill outlawing the political shirts.

Plan Limit For Output Of Milk

AAA Strives For Agreement With Dairy Interests To Limit Production

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Faced with the approaching peak season for dairy production, the AAA today sought an agreement with dairy interests to limit output to low seasonal levels of recent months. The agreement is embodied in an adjustment program which would make dairymen the seventh agricultural industry to be put on this basis under the adjustment act.

Draconic proposals of the program include: Curtailment program by 10 per cent below the high level of the past year.

Distribution by the government, at a cost of $5,000,000, of surplus milk to needy city families.

Transfer of healthy producing cows from surplus herds to poor farmers lacking cows for their own milk supply to cost $5,000,000.

Culling from dairy herds all low producers and unhealthy stock. The program would raise milk prices to the consumer by one-half a cent a quart, it is estimated, and butter prices five cents a pound.

Shannon May Get Support

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Mar. 22.—While political circles continued to buzz with talk of a "dark horse" congressional candidate despite the quick deflation of the latest suggestion, Republican organization leaders today sought to drive all factions into agreement upon Lieut. Gov. Edward C. Shannon as nominee for governor.

Attempts to solidify sentiment in favor of the ranking national guard officer were given fresh impetus with the formal statement of former Attorney General Cyrus S. Woods that he would not be a candidate. Woods was the latest "dark horse" suggestion.

Gen. Edward Martin and Shannon held a long conference in the latter's office this morning, the result of which was not revealed. It has been known, however, that Martin swung into the Shannon camp when the latter announced his candidacy.

Application For New Trial Made

James Oscar McCormick Directed To Renew His Bail In Sum Of $3000

Alleging errors on the part of the court, and that the verdict was against the weight of the evidence an application for a new trial was made at court this morning in the case of James Oscar McCormick, convicted of a involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Leona Cwynar.

The court ordered the stenographer to write out the notes of testimony, after which arguments will be heard on the motion. McCormick was directed to renew his bail in the sum of $3000 pending the disposition of the case.

The crime of which he was convicted occurred on Atlantic avenue where Miss Cwynar was walking along the road when she was struck by a car and killed.

AMESITE PLAYGROUND WILL BE FURNISHED NORTH STREET PUPILS

Workmen employed by the CWA today started the job of preparing the ground in front of the North street school for the laying of amesite. This is one of an extensive program of improvements at the North street school.
"The front yard has been practically useless as a playground for the students," S. G. Ligo, superintendent of public school buildings, said today, "because it is muddy half of the time. We believe the amesite pavement will be a decided improvement to the property."

Raft And Pine Romance Fades

George Raft, Movie Star, Admits He Is Married, But Separated From Wife

NEW YORK, Mar. 22.—Admitting he was both baffled and flattered by the efforts of dame rumor to stampede him to the altar with the lovely Virginia Pine, George Raft, screen's successor to Rudolph Valentino, arrived today to announce that he was already married.
"I've been married for 10 years," Raft told reporters.
Pressed further, he also admitted that he had been separated from Mrs. Raft for the last nine of those years. But the first Mrs. Raft undoubtedly stands, he said, as a very tangible obstacle to acquiring a second.

"Of course, it's all very flattering to read about my romance with Virginia," he conceded.
Miss Pine cleared away her own personal obstacle—a husband, Edward Lehman, Jr.—in a Chicago divorce court yesterday.

U. S. And Japan Will Move For Pacific Peace

Believe Japanese Ready To Discuss Pacific Problems
With United States

MORE FRIENDLY RELATIONS SOUGHT

American Officials Look For Japan To Ask For Naval Parity

By KINGSBURY SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Early discussions between the United States and Japan for a settlement of Pacific problems were foreseen as likely here today following Tokyo's move to create a new era of friendship with this country.

The issues which Japan regards as outstanding problems include that nation's desire for an increase in its relative naval strength with the United States and Great Britain, modification of the Japanese exclusion act, and recognition of the Japanese-controlled state of Manchukuo.

Expect Proposals
Secretary of State Hull said no actual discussions have been undertaken as yet nor have the Japanese made any specific proposals to this government concerning the problems they wish to discuss.

However, it is expected such proposals will be forthcoming in the near future.

The note of the Japanese foreign minister, Koki Hirota, to Hull, expressing Japan's desire for the establishment of more friendly relations and the belief that all pending issues could be settled satisfactorily if discussed "with an open mind and in all frankness" was regarded in official circles here as an overture to sound out this government's attitude towards a discussion of the Pacific problems.

Naval Question
Hull's action in replying that he would be glad to receive any suggestions "calculated to maintain and to increase" the friendship, and cordiality between this country and Japan was expected to prompt Tokyo to come forward with some proposal.

American officials were inclined to believe the naval question probably would be the first issue in connection with which Japan would suggest discussions.

Japan has served notice unofficially that it desires an increase in its relative naval strength with the United States and Great Britain under both the Washington and London Naval treaties.
Unless denounced before Dec. 31st of this year, the Washington treaty will remain in force indefinitely, subject to two years notice of termination. The London treaty provides for a conference in 1935 to "replace and carry out the purposes of the present treaty," and it is generally conceded that preliminary discussions are essential to the success of that convocation.

Federal Court To Air Equity Suit

Government Seeks To Collect $1,000,000 From Pennsylvania State
Liquor Stores

ANSWER FILED
IN U. S. COURT

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Mar. 22.—The state's equity suit to prevent the federal government from collecting almost $1,000,000 in taxes and license fees from Pennsylvania's liquor stores today was scheduled to be argued in federal court here next month.

In an answer filed by the United States government late yesterday afternoon to the petition of the commonwealth asking that the suit be remanded to the Dauphin county courts where it was originally begun, the government asserted the Dauphin county courts were without jurisdiction to decide the issue. The federal government asserted any judgment or decree by the common-pleas court to Dauphin county would not be binding upon the United States.

The government, in an answer previously filed to the state's bill in equity, asserted the commonwealth went into the liquor business with the expectation of making a profit, and hence should be required to pay the taxes and license fees.

Judge Albert L. Watson several weeks ago ruled that the suit be heard in the federal court here.

One School In Use In State For 100 Years

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 22.—The little red schoolhouse, about which tons of ink have been spilt in sentimental bits of prose and poetry, has virtually disappeared in the face of a century of progress in public education.

As Pennsylvania prepares to celebrate during the week of April 1 the centennial anniversary of the birth of the free school system within its borders, it is found that in only one building used continually for more than 100 years, are still administered the fundamentals of education.

It is the sandstone school in Strasburg township, Lancaster county, which is being used daily by a group of 30 pupils. The one-room structure, built in 1815, is still in a fine state of preservation.

Others may still remain but they have long since been abandoned as institutions of learning. Several have been found in various sections of the state, particularly in the southeastern counties where they are being preserved as relics.

Dress Rehearsal For Play Tonight

Senior Class Play To Be Staged
At High School On Friday

Edwin Harper is a member of the cast of "Your Uncle Dudley," the senior class play which is having its dress rehearsal

tonight. Harper is Charlie Post, banker and childhood friend of Uncle Dudley. The play produces some first-class comedy at a number of points, but none
are better than a scene in which
easy-going Uncle Dudley in the desperation of a thwarted lover,

James Goodchild
corners the evasive banker and gets a loan without security. He does this with startling ease and quite within the law. The role of Charlie Post represents the business men of Uncle
Dudley's community and Charlie
Post's relations with Uncle Dudley,
show how selfishly and shamelessly
they have exploited the childish
vanity of Dudley Dixon. When Dudley at last awakens up things happen to Post. Harper is good whether he is the complacent money-lender, forced into an unprofitable loan. He is the son of Attorney and Mrs. E.
F. G. Harper of Boyles avenue.

James Goodchild as Cyril Church is Uncle Dudley's only nephew and his widowed mother's only son. On the high school stage, "Jimmy"

is always a center of activity and complications, dashing on to register complaints and off
to escape richly deserved vengeance. He is lively and noisy
and as awkward as only good acting could make him. Cyril Church is going to be one of the stellar roles in the senior's comedy. When he is about the prosaic business of attending his high school classes, his creator, James Goodchild, is senior class president. When he is at home in his proper person, he is the son of Mr.
and Mrs. J. D. Goodchild of Garfield avenue.

Edwin Harper
represents the business men of Uncle
Dudley's community and Charlie
Post's relations with Uncle Dudley,
show how selfishly and shamelessly
they have exploited the childish
vanity of Dudley Dixon. When Dudley at last awakens up things happen
to Post. Harper is good whether he is the complacent money-lender,
forced into an unprofitable loan. He

Phillips Hurls Broadside At Philadelphia

(International News Service)

BUTLER, Pa., Mar. 22.—Thomas
W. Phillips, Jr., of Butler, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, today had launched a broadside against the Philadelphia citizens committee for ignoring western Pennsylvania in selecting of six qualified candidates for the governorship.

"While I was for party harmony," Phillips stated, "I see no reason why this small sectional group should attempt to dictate how the people of Pennsylvania shall vote at the May primary."

"My appeal for support is direct to the voters, who are fully capable of doing their own thinking. The day of hand-picked candidates is ended."

Gasses To Cripple Rather Than Kill

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Mar. 22.—
Gases that cripple rather than kill will be used in the next war, in the opinion of Dr. Ira Hilton Jones of the chemistry department of Northwestern university and internationally recognized as an outstanding scientist.

Addressing a meeting of the city schools' institute, Dr. Jones stated that the idea of crippling rather than killing is more acceptable in the science of warfare in that a large portion of the able bodied are caring for those who have been disabled. Those killed outright would not loom as a handicap to the remaining forces, he said.

Substitution of glass vials of leptosis, anthrax, influenza and other fatal germs for crippling gasses was suggested by Dr. Jones as the cheapest and most effective method of waging the next war.

When Children Get Bad Reports in School

Poor marks in school are often due to a child's physical condition. No child can study with a sluggish system. Sluggishness actually dulls the senses; it will dull the brightest mind. Before you can blame the child—or his teacher—you must be sure you are not sending a badly clogged child to school. Don't wait for a badly coated tongue, headaches, and poor appetite to tell you a child's bowels need help!
There's a way to insure their regularity; see next column.

This is the secret of helping boys and girls go through an entire school term without once slumping in their studies. Keep them free from bilious attacks. Not by purging them with cathartics of adult strength! They'll never need such things if you'll use this natural means of stimulating regular, thorough bowel action;
every three or four days, let them have a little California Syrup of Figs.
The laxative action of the senna in this fruit syrup is enough.

Man, 90, Will Be Candidate For Governor

Herbert T. Ames, Former Mayor Of Williamsport, Seeks Office On Dry Ticket

FITHIAN WOULD BE RUNNING MATE

(International News Service) WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Mar. 22.—Nominating petitions were circulated here today for former Mayor Herbert T. Ames, who seeks to become the gubernatorial candidate of the Prohibition party despite the fact that he will be 90 years old on June 7.

Ames in the past 40 years has been the Prohibition party nominee for United States senator, judge of the supreme court, congress, district attorney and mayor of Williamsport. In the latter campaign he was successful. Despite his advanced age he is actively engaged in the practice of law.

Should he win the nomination, Ames' running mate for U. S. senator will be Edwin J. Fithian, of Grove City, who ran for the same office in 1932.

Employment Office Prepares To Take RWD Task April 1

Its Functions Will Be Same As Under CWA Plan; Normal Jobs Gaining

The federal-state employment office in the Johnson building will function as the job-giving agency of the government's new relief work division here after April 1 just as it functioned in that capacity for the CWA.

Manager Robert L. Meermans said the office will now have two departments, one devoting its entire attention to the relief work division and the other to normal placement work, public work employment and employment for road work.

Meermans announced that since the office commenced its canvass of the district's industrial plants about February 24 there have been 201 Normal placements made in industries here.

"In order to prevent the stoppage of this industrial employment we intend to have part of our staff devote its time to normal work, the remainder handling the placements for the works division," Mr. Meermans explained. "We fully intend to promote normal placement work as well as handle the RWD activities."

The Lawrence County Emergency Relief board has turned over a list of nearly 2,400 families which are at present on the relief rolls and to whom employment, under the government rules, must be furnished first.

New Ruling Upon Drunken Drivers

(International News Service)
BUTLER, Pa., Mar. 22.—Drivers need not be visibly intoxicated to make them culpable under the state motor vehicle law, Judge John H. Wilson of the Butler county common pleas court ruled in a case where the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Drivers who may not show evidence of having been drinking, but who have taken one or more drinks of intoxicating liquor, may be extremely dangerous at the wheel of an automobile, the judge declared.

Roving Criminals To Be Hunted Down

Government Will Start Campaign To Wipe Out Dangerous Criminals

Millions Of Fingerprints Are Being Collected By Federal Officials

By ROBERT S. THORNBURG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Millions of roving criminals are preying on the American public, exacting their toll of death, robbery, property destruction, kidnapping and extortion, government officials admitted today.

Discussing Attorney General Cummings' statement before the senate judiciary committee that armed gangsters of the underworld outnumber the combined forces of the army and navy, Assistant Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan, in charge of criminal activities of the justice department, told International News Service today that he regarded this estimate as conservative.

Fingerprints are reaching the department at the rate of 2,200 a day. There were 4,159,883 on file at the beginning of March of which about 3,000,000 were those of recognized criminals.

"Anybody's guess as to how many of these criminals are of the gangster-racketeer type is as good as mine," Keenan said.

Seek Dangerous Criminals.
"The department is anxious for legislation to give the government the power to apprehend the roving type of criminal, many of whom are as dangerous as John Dillinger, George (Machine Gun) Kelly and others whose records typify the desperate character of the crime population."

In disclosing the highly organized underworld system Keenan declared that in some large cities, notably Chicago and Kansas City, the gangsters have what are known as "post offices." At these heavily guarded secret general headquarters of crime a recognized criminal may go for information as to whether his pals are in town or where they may be located.

While substantial progress has been made in the apprehension, convicting and killing of some of the most notorious of the underworld characters, particularly in the middle and southwest, Keenan declared that much remains to be done. Every resource of the federal government has been thrown into the drive to disorganize systematized crime.

Aged Minister To Be Honored

Rev. Jacob F. Snyder Of New Kensington Will Be 100 Years Old Next Saturday

OLDEST GRADUATE OF HEIDELBERG

(International News Service)
TITPIN, O., Mar. 22.—On March 24, the Rev. Jacob F. Snyder of New Kensington, Pa., oldest living graduate of Heidelberg college here will be 100 years old.

Plans have been made to celebrate this anniversary next Saturday at Export, Pa. Reformed church dignitaries will be in attendance to do honor, not only to Rev. Snyder as the oldest graduate of the college, but to Rev. Snyder as the oldest minister in the denomination as well.

During his 100 years, Rev. Snyder has seen many changes in the nation. He was 11 years old when the Mexican war was being fought.

When he was 26, he tried to enlist in the Union forces, but was turned down because he was too frail. He also applied for insurance but was rejected as a "poor risk."

After teaching school for several years, he came to Heidelberg in 1858 and graduated in the class of 1862. The year following his graduation, Rev. Snyder was licensed to preach in the Reformed church. He spent his life in the ministry in and around Pittsburgh, his longest service being in the Emmanuel Reformed church near Export, Pa., where he spent 35 years. It is at this church where his anniversary celebration will be held Saturday under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Synod of the Reformed church.

Alas! No man can look as important as Junior wishes Dad to seem when the fellers are watching.

Engineer Estimates Lower Canal Cost

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Federal cost of the proposed Beaver-Mahoning canal on Wednesday was placed at $12,000,000 lower than the army engineers' estimate by L. C. Sabin of Cleveland, consulting engineer, appearing before the House Rivers and Harbors committee.

He fixed government's share of the waterway at $25,365,000 compared to the $37,000,000 figures of the war department. His estimates eliminate construction of one reservoir, one lock and one dam.

Flashes From Our Night Schools

(By JOHN G. RUBEIS) Supervisor

Schedules for the class in the North Street night school have been changed to meet the approval of many students, who felt that the 4:30 classes in the afternoon interfered too much with other activities. With the sanction of Dr. C. C.

Green, chairman of the E. E. R. in Lawrence County, the schedules were revised as follows:

Classes in sociology, taught by Elmer O'Neill at 4:30, have been combined with the sociology-modern classes course beginning at 6 o'clock. From 7 to 8 o'clock, Mr. O'Neill teaches psychology, and from 8 to 9 o'clock, Spanish; from 9 to 10, constitutional law.

Mrs. McClain has dropped her 4:30 class in grammar and arithmetic, and teaches penmanship, arithmetic, and grammar from 6 to 7 o'clock; grammar and journalism from 7 to 8; arithmetic from 8 to 9; and from 9 to 10 o'clock, spelling. Mrs. McClain has been conducting spelling bees which have been meeting with enthusiastic approval. Tom Crenney's 4:30 class in English grammar has been discontinued. At 7 o'clock, special instruction is offered retarded cases in grammar by Mr. Crenney. From 7 to 8, Mr. Crenney offers economics; from 8 to 9, classes on government; and from 9 to 10, public speaking.

G. W. Hayes has discontinued the finance class at 4:30 and now offers a class in advanced bookkeeping from 6 to 7 o'clock. This is an individual instruction period and many commercial students are taking advantage of this opportunity to acquire knowledge in bookkeeping. His schedule also includes cost accounting and bookkeeping from 7 to 8 o'clock; commercial arithmetic from 8 to 9, and commercial law from 9 to 10.

No changes have been made in Miss Mary James' classes except that the typewriting class has been extended one hour. This class meets from 6 to 8 o'clock every night. The first hour is under direct supervision of Miss James while the hour from 7 to 8 o'clock is taken care of by one of the more advanced students.

Howard Wylie and Mr. Stanley of the dramatic department are carrying their original full schedule. Dr. C. C. Green is well pleased with the cooperative spirit displayed in the night school system and predicts a splendid future for adult education.

Strange world! It is a violent death if a big animal kills you, but a natural death if little germs do it.

Electric Current Aids Mother Nature

Scientific experiment in the growing of green stuff is being tried out at the Glorioso truck farm, New Castle-Butler highway and according to the experimenters it is proving better than the old method of heating soil.

In the "hothouse like" beds in which plants have been grown, fertilizer has been allowed to remain in two beds and in two other beds an electrically charged cable has been placed in the ground.

It has produced greater heat than the fertilizer and the plants in the electrically heated beds show a much better crop and the plants are more matured than in the beds heated by fertilizer.

For instance a thermometer placed beneath the glass showed 73 degrees. The operators of the truck farm, however, plan for the present to lower the heat to 60 degrees.

The electricity is carried from the Butler road to a meter located directly above the beds. From the meter current courses on and it is possible to ascertain the cost of having electricity coax Mother Nature in her vegetable rearing.

LIFE INSURANCE TALK IS HEARD

'Financial Independence Week' Message Features Kiwanis Luncheon

Life insurance firms of the nation as an institution—there are 300 companies with policyholders to the number of 65,000,000—were "99.9 per cent safe throughout a period of extended 20 years for every $1,000 of net reserve," said Mr. Andrews, executive secretary of the Pittsburgh Life Insurance Underwriters association, declared in a Financial Independence week address before the local Kiwanis club at The Castleton on Wednesday.

"The average loss to policyholders during the past 22 years did not exceed 20 cents for every $1,000 of net reserve," said Mr. Andrews. "Even if the depression period (1930-1932) be taken by itself, the average annual losses from companies failing during those three years will not exceed 91 cents for every $1,000 of average net reserve held by all life insurance companies in this country."

"Add to this fact," the speaker continued, "the fact that although there are 300 companies, 82 per cent of the business written has been written by 15 per cent of the companies."

Of life insurance stability, he said:

"In spite of the fact that a few life insurance companies—very few—have met with misfortune, and in spite of the fact that the loss to policyholders was only one-tenth of one per cent of all the life insurance in America, and in spite of the fact that these difficulties resulted from the failure of individuals and not the failure of the principles upon which the business is founded, which is important, people have dug into every corner to find some weakness in the life insurance institution. For four years opportunity has been given to find it and to date none has been discovered."

Kiwanian Julius Blaha introduced the speaker.

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for 24 hours ending 3:30 p. m. March 21, eight arrests on charges as follows: drunkenness, four; drunkenness and disorderly conduct 2; and violation of parking law 2.

Harry Hoskins, engineer for the city, has returned from a Washington conference with the powers that be, relative to the city's request for $150,000, from the PWA. Of the sum 30 percent was asked as a grant, the balance as a loan. Asked if the city will get the money Hoskins replied: "It is problematical". He indicated PWA officials do not like the city's form of security, delinquent tax.

With spring here and frost expected to leave the ground within the next few weeks it is probable that the city parks at Public Square, West Side and Seventh ward will be manured with rakes; and grass and flowers planted.

Finance Director Albert Hoyland said yesterday that he is not averse to purchasing needed equipment for the city providing the coffers are in a healthy condition. He said that, as finance agent, he must be very careful and pointed out that only recently the city had to borrow the last of $100,000, to pay current debts. If the department of garbage collection is unable to continue efficiently with the equipment it now has he pointed out that it might be a good plan for the city to rent enough trucks to keep it efficient. When sufficient money is derived it is possible to purchase equipment. Hoyland would have no objection, he declared.

It is anticipated that when members of council convene formally Friday the city will purchase a five passenger automobile for the streets department.

Fire Chief Claire Stockman reported yesterday that the fire hazard survey and inspection of hydrants has proved a great aid to the department. He said the survey for hazards has resulted in a lessening of fire causes and everytime a hydrant was inspected it left the department members with more time for combating fires. The surveyors, headed by Dan McDaniels, who, it might be said knows his business thoroughly, got into cellars and basements, and bare wires are inspected.

Busy Week For Girl Reserves

Girls' Clubs Having Meetings Almost Every Day This Week

This is a busy week for the Girl Reserve clubs of the Y. W. C. A. Each is having a meeting of interest, varying widely in nature from swimming parties to "sings."

On last Monday night the senior high school Girl Reserve club met at the Y. W. C. A. and heard Miss Sarah Dinsmore, of the senior high school faculty, speak on "Roosevelt's First Year." The talk was of extreme interest to the club girls. Miss Dinsmore reviewed all activity of the administration's first year, stressing the most important events. It was an interesting follow-up on the talk given before the club a year ago on "The Inauguration," in which Miss Dinsmore told of taking a group of students to Washington, D. C., to see President Roosevelt take the oath of office.

Tuesday night the Benjamin Franklin Girl Reserve club enjoyed a swim at the Y. M. C. A.

Wednesday afternoon the George Washington club heard a descriptive talk by Mrs. S. E. Irvine on the subject of Indian Life and Customs. She illustrated the talk with pictures, baskets, beads, etc. Mrs. Irvine taught school among the Indians for a number of years.

This afternoon the Scotia Street Girl Reserves will have a rehearsal for the formal recognition service which is to be an event of next Tuesday night, March 27, at 7:30 o'clock. The recognition service, at which the impressive candle lighting ceremony will be used, will be attended by mothers and friends of the members.

On Friday at 3:00 p. m. Union high school club will enjoy a "sing," led by Mrs. Joseph Replogle.

An intensive campaign against unlicensed dogs is being staged in Lawrence county. During the past week more than forty informants have been made against dog owners who have failed to secure licenses for their dogs.

In almost every instance the owners have come in and paid their fines, at the same time the sheriff is directed to attach any money that may be due the defendant in the hands of W. Walter Braham.

County Commissioner P. O. Elder, who has returned from Washington, where he attended the canal hearings, says that one would not know there is any depression on visiting Washington. The capital is humming with activity and buzzing with visitors. Hotels and lodging houses are crowded to the limit.

In fact it is a hard matter to get good accommodations unless reservations have been made in advance. Mr. Elder had made his reservations and so did not have any trouble. The season is much further advanced toward Washington than it is here, says Mr. Elder. It was no uncommon sight to count 25 or 30 farmers plowing. Gardens are being made, vegetation is beginning to get green, and there are other evidences that spring is on the way.

County committeemen in every precinct of the county will be chosen at the spring primary. Some candidates have already secured their nomination papers and are now getting them filled out. Indications are that there will be a spirited contest in some precincts for membership in the Republican county committee.

The duties of a county committeeman are to see that the vote gets out in the precinct in which he is elected. He also attends meetings of the committee at which the policies of the party are mapped out. A membership in the county committee is usually the first step toward something bigger, provided the committeeman has ambitions to become an office holder.

The majority of committeemen do not have such ambitions, but are content to help their fellow citizens along toward a coveted goal.

The Singer Sewing Machine Company has filed a writ of replevin at the prothonotary's office against Genium Pontani to secure possession of a sewing machine which had been placed on a bailment lease.

Miss Martha Bigley, who has been collecting data of a historical nature for the department, has completed her work at the court house. Inspection of her records shows that they have been carefully prepared. The data embraces various activities of the county offices, relating to valuations of real estate and records of the different kinds of cases brought in the courts of the county.

County Treasurer William O. Pitts has been very considerate in one direction. He has not asked anybody to pay any dog tax on the wolves which have been hanging around their homes.

Records at the office of Register and Recorder William R. Hanna, indicate a growing activity in real estate transactions. This might be what is called a seasonal pickup. Spring is usually the time when people are looking for homes.

Bringing Faster Relief From Headaches... Pain

For Quick Relief, Say BAYER Aspirin When You Buy

Here is quicker relief from pain—the fastest, safe relief it is said, ever known. This is due to a scientific discovery by which BAYER Aspirin starts "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass here tells the story. A Bayer tablet starts to disintegrate or dissolve—go to work—almost instantly. This means quick relief from pain—fewer lost hours from headache, neuritis, rheumatism. And safe relief. For genuine Bayer Aspirin does not harm the heart.

When you buy, see that you get the genuine Bayer Aspirin. The best way is never to ask for aspirin by the name "aspirin" alone. But if you want Bayer Aspirin's quick relief always to say "BAYER Aspirin."

COUNTY SCHOOL MUSIC CONTESTS SATURDAY

Ten Schools Will Share In Program

Winners To Represent The County In District Eliminations At Oil City

COUNTY CONTESTS AT NEW WILMINGTON

The Lawrence county elimination contest for the annual Pennsylvania Forensic and Music League tournament will be held in New Wilmington on Saturday, March 24, with close to 400 students of 10 different schools participating.

The day's events open at 9 a. m. Entered in the various musical and oratorical events will be the senior high school, the New Wilmington high, North Beaver township high, Union high, Harlansburg high, Enon Valley high, Shenango high, East Brook high, Volant high and Plaingrove high.

Winners in the events will represent the county at the sectional meet for northwestern Pennsylvania's schools at Oil City on April 13 and 14. In contests where only one entered, that person will be declared the winner without playing. A concert in which the day's winners will appear is to be given in New Wilmington Saturday night. No admission will be charged to any of the day's events.

The senior high orchestra and band and chorus are rated in class A and have no school in the county to compete against, so those groups will not participate Saturday. However, the school will be represented by smaller musical groups.

Prof. Roy F. Conway, supervising principal of Union township schools, is the county chairman for the Pennsylvania league, and has assisted Walt Whitman, New Wilmington principal, the chairman of arrangements.

Mr. Conway announces that a public information booth will be set up just inside the door at Old Main.

Decrease Is Shown In Tuberculosis

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 22.—The rapid decrease in deaths from tuberculosis is making necessary the partial conversion of the famous White Haven sanatorium to other uses, according to a report of Dr. Lawrence F. Flick, founder of the institution.

The treatment of insanity, heart disease, kidney disease and diabetes will be added to the regular work of the sanatorium, originally dedicated to tuberculosis sufferers.

The institution is operated on a non-profit basis. A survey made there recently upset the old theories that tuberculosis was hereditary and bore out Dr. Flick's contention that it resulted from germ infection.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 22.—Edmund Lowe, actor husband of Lilyan Tashman, glamorous screen star who died here yesterday, was reported today to be on the verge of a breakdown at the home of Mrs. Tiffany Saporita, where he has been in seclusion since his wife's death.

He could not be reached for information concerning funeral arrangements, but friends said Lowe was undecided whether the rites would be held in Hollywood or in Miss Tashman's native Brooklyn.

Lowe and Miss Tashman were planning to spend a vacation in Connecticut when the actress contracted the ailment—described as a tumorous condition—which cut short her career.

Her latest picture, entitled "Reptile," is scheduled to open at a Broadway theater on Friday of next week.

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Mar. 22.—Twenty-two education leaders from various sections of Pennsylvania today met at a conference called by Dr. James N. Rule, superintendent of public instruction, which they hope will pave the way for passage of legislation at the next session of the legislature consolidating local school administration units.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Mar. 22.—Under orders from city council, Franklin police are administering the "cure" to persons who run afoul of the law when they imbibe too much.

Second offenders come up for "10 days with." Finishing the sentence, it is "10 days with bread and water." There is no half-way measure about it. Five of them drew hard-and-fast sentence when they came before Magistrate J. B. Elliott. They were the group who used to get off with the customary $7.50 and a warning not to do it again. But the "again" happened.

318-20 East Washington St.

OF COURSE," Platt Moore was explaining to Alice Lathrop, "It won't be as though you were keeping a boarding house. Naturally, I wouldn't let the girl I'm going to marry do that. You'll just move into the wing of your old white elephant, give these—er girl athletes the main section, and collect a lot of money."

Old Luke, who was present in his double capacity of trustee for Colonel Henry Lathrop's sadly muddled estate and of lawyer for the late Colonel's listening, faintly doubtful daughter, didn't like the way Platt's plump features brightened at that word "money."

Why in Time did a man who owned a bank want his girl to make money, especially when the two of 'em were going to get married soon?

Alice, for those of you who do not keep up with the sport of kings, was the girl whose Blue Button was the all out favorite to win the Derby a year or so ago. You must have read reams about that magnificent roan. Of his mistress who brought him on from California where the Colonel lay ill. And of how, prancing onto the track to start the race, Blue Button was kicked and had a leg broken and so sent the already shaky house of Lathrop into bankruptcy. Alice had stood by without turning a hair while they shot Blue Button, and then had gone to her hotel and cried all night. She returned to Huntsville, California, and salvaged what she might, and nursed her dad through his last days. And last but not least she was so darned pretty you thought you were dreaming the first time you sighted her.

She had the sort of shining dark hair and wide-apart blue eyes and deliciously fresh color and long-limbed grace which inspire young men to hunt up flower shops.

And how did such a girl become engaged to a Platt Moore? Now you're doing Platt an injustice. He was only thirty-three, even if it was a plumpish thirty-three. Within the limits of Huntsville, he was as eligible as the Prince of Wales is in London. By reason of his own industry, almost as much as that of his father's, he had plenty of what it takes Every month or so he had to run down to Los Angeles to look after his growing affairs.

It was a trip to Los Angeles which had acquainted him with the needs of the Women's Olympic Team. The associate he was seeing was a member of the municipal Olympic committee, and when the committeeman mourned the lack of a training site, Platt immediately thought of the old mansion Colonel Lathrop had left behind with its adjoining practice track.

"Absolutely ideal!" he assured the committeeman.

And now, while Old Luke grunted disapproval, Platt repeated the verdict to Alice.

"Absolutely ideal. Aunt Sally Maken can come in to run things. You'll have nothing on your mind but the fat check you'll collect every week."

"All right," said Alice obediently. She was acutely sensitive about her lack of money and humbly grateful to Platt for helping her to make some. "But what kind of girls are they, Platt?"

"Good Lord!" said Platt. "You don't think I tried to see any of 'em, do you? Runners, mostly, if that means anything. But I guess their money'll be as good as anybody else's."

"Runners!" Alice picked out the word which pleased her most. "That's what Blue Button was, a runner. And that's what I'd like to be, I've often thought."

Platt conceded a tolerant smile for this little-girl whimsy.

"Tell me," Alice was becoming interested, "who trains these girls?"

"A coach," Platt told her. "Anyway, I think that's the word. A fellow named Bob Harper."

"I certainly like that!" snorted Old Luke. "Bob Harper's the lad who holds all the world's track records from the quarter mile down. But even if you didn't know that, you ought to know the smart lawyer Harper's become since he quit running. He's only twenty-nine but Los Angeles ain't got many better. And on top of that, a good looking, too, if his pictures ain't all liars."

Platt lit a cigarette in a manner which registered a sizeable indifference to good-looking coaches.

"I'll telegraph Los Angeles," he told Alice. "The whole outfit ought to be here in the morning."

It was. Arriving at the spacious old white house shortly after ten, they were out on the track, hard at work, by mid-afternoon.

Alice had promptly decided Bob Harper, tall, lean, was certainly likeable. He had, it seemed to her, such a pleasantly humorous mouth. She liked his deep and, as she described it to herself, sort of rumble voice.

Every girl on the team, Alice further concluded, was thoroughly nice. She liked their costumes, too.

These were black running trunks so short they seemed to stop almost the instant they started; blouses open at the throat and breezily short as to sleeves; and, finally, rolled socks inside running shoes.

Old Luke also voted the costumes great. Danged healthy! Elsewhere there was less approval. Huntsville was a town which flattered its chief banker by accepting his shrewd but narrow outlook. Platt made no bones about being soundly shocked at the galaxy of bare legs twinkling around Colonel Lathrop's rambling old home. And imitative little groups collected all over Huntsville whispering their sympathy that Banker Moore should have been misled by that slicker of an Olympic committeeman down in L. A. It was all going to be pretty terrible for the town's reputation.

A week later, Platt Moore found himself facing Old Luke, Bob Harper and Alice, at an unexpected conference in his office.

Bob Harper sat off in one corner of Platt's softly carpeted highly polished office. He slumped in a manner sharply contrasted with Platt's stiffly erect posture. Your first impression was undeniably unimpressive. But then your eye began to take in details. You sized up the lean, wiry muscles which sinewed a deceptive thinness. You realized that here was a man trained to beautiful perfection.

This is not to say that Platt made a poor showing behind his huge lustrous desk. His shoes were brightly shining, as always, and his suit was perfectly pressed.

And, just to one side of Platt sat Alice. Looking at her, cool in green silk, Old Luke was reminded of dryads.

"Please!" Alice was saying. "Please, Platt! There can't possibly be any harm in it. And Mr. Harper says I might do something really good."

"I'll put it stronger than that," Bob cut in. "Even in the little time I have left, I can make Miss Lathrop into a sprinter able to do a hundred meters faster than any girl on my team."

"Am I to understand," Platt addressed Alice in a level tone of concealed fury, "that you propose to make this spectacle of yourself?"

"Spectacle?" Alice gasped. For the first time since their engagement her gaze was faintly measuring.

"Do you think," Platt exploded, "that if I had realized how these girls would dress, I'd have let them come here? If it weren't for the profit you're making, Alice, I'd order the whole lot out tomorrow. And I'd have all the best people in Huntsville back of me. Why, those girls go around looking like chorus girls!"

Bob Harper shot to his feet. Erect, that unimpressive air disappeared. From his hard, stiff knees to his tight, brown jaw, Bob was startlingly formidable.

"That's plenty, Moore!" he cut in. "The girls on my team don't make spectacles of themselves. Remember that the next time you're talking out loud."

"I'll remember just what..." Platt began, but Alice interrupted.

"Platt!" Her voice was angry now. "It's silly to criticize their costume. And what's more, I intend to wear one."

Old Luke's toes curled. Platt would never like that. He'd get up on his ear. And then this engagement would go bust.

Platt stood up. He looked at Bob with eyes full of anger and jealous resentment. But then, before anyone save shrewd Old Luke had intercepted this look, his expression changed to one of profound hurt.

"I give up," he said. "I confess I'm a little hurt. And I won't deny I'll have some difficulty explaining to my fellow townsmen this course on the part of my fiancée. But I admit your full right to do as you think proper."

He was so completely resigned that Alice seemed to waver, and Old Luke hastily accepted Platt's decision.

Concealing his delight, he maneuvered Bob and Alice away while victory was complete. Later, alone with Bob, he turned to the coach with a frown.

"It's my conviction," he said, "that that fat skinamarink back in the bank is cooking up something. And that you, mister Harper, are going to get it right in the eye unless you act as slick as seven eels."

"Why me?" Bob protested.

"Because it's your fault that Platt has been licked in an important argument for the first time since he stepped into his daddy's shoes as the town's chief banker."

"She's certainly a humdinger, ain't she?" Old Luke demanded of Bob one afternoon. "She'll make a great runner," Bob agreed quietly.

Alice was coming toward them, striding swiftly along the old track on which Blue Button had trained. In her running togs she was taller than Old Luke had realized. In her stride there was a breath-taking rhythm which told of perfect coordination. It was beautiful. And Alice herself never looked more lovely.

"If Phydias had had the chance to model Alice," remarked Bob slowly, "this world would be worshipping her perfection in a dozen museums today."

So it's Alice, is it? Old Luke grinned, and on a sudden impulse cut away to Huntsville's biggest bank. It had occurred to him that with Bob and Alice increasingly friendly, Alice and Platt, just possibly, might be cooling toward each other.

"G'day, Platt," he said guilefully. "How's things?"

Platt, creased and shining, smiled from behind his desk. His hands rubbed together softly, palm to palm.

"Splendid!" said Platt. "Splendid! I'm considering a most attractive offer for my stock in the bank."

"As if you'd sell!" snorted Old Luke.

"Frankly," said Platt, "I might. I've been criticized a little lately, Luke, and I don't like it. It might be a very good plan to sell and go into business in Los Angeles after Alice and I are married."

"You'll have plenty of time to think it over," Old Luke said skeptically, "if you wait until the wedding."

"I guess you haven't heard," murmured Platt complacently, "that Alice has promised to marry me as soon as her events in the Olympic games are run off."

Old Luke got away as quickly as he decently could. Returning to the old Lathrop place, he arrived just in time to witness an impromptu celebration.

Alice was the focus of it; and all the other girls on the team were circling about, laughing and doing exuberant jig steps. Alice herself, Old Luke perceived on drawing closer, had wet through happy eyes.

"What's all this about?" he demanded of no one in particular.

"A hundred meters in twelve and one-fifth, that's all!" Bob cried. "Tied the Olympic record for the distance, Old Timer."

It was plain that Bob meant Alice, so Old Luke looked to her for elaboration.

"Isn't it wonderful?" she asked. "When Bob first gave me my suit and shoes, I never thought I'd get anywhere at all. But today it all began to come beautifully clear. I didn't start any too well, I'll admit. For the first half I trailed three of the girls. But then my spikes began to dig in, and my knees came up just the way Bob said they should. And one of the girls started coming back to me. And then another. And then I was out in front and there was the tape!"

"That isn't all, either," Bob cut in. "I've telegraphed the Olympic committee to have her put on the sprint team. And with this mark there isn't a doubt in the world she'll run in the hundred meters."

"Think of it, you darling!" Alice seized Old Luke by his two tough cheeks. "I'll run for America. Me, Alice Lathrop! Maybe I'll set a new record. Bob says I may if I'll improve my start."

Bob had come close, and Alice caught his brown hand. He turned red, and then white, and then stood very straight.

What a couple, Old Luke thought! Bob, just enough taller to look over Alice's shining black head with ease.

And then Old Luke remembered Platt's announcement.

He went dejectedly home. And his dejection decreased not at all when, on the heels of her acceptance by the Olympic committee, Alice went off to Los Angeles with the rest of the team. Nor did it make him much happier to read of her reception there.

The Los Angeles newspapers went after Alice head over heels. "A re-incarnated Mercury!" wrote one excited reporter. "Miss Mercury!" was the happier title bestowed by another.

This last became Alice's own. By the time the day of the trial heats arrived, no one was calling her anything else. And when Platt, plump and completely assured, put in an appearance the papers went into ecstasies over Miss Mercury's romance.

Old Luke grimaced at that; and did it again when he discovered that Bob shared his feeling.

Bob, now, was a desperately distraught young man, whose condition could not be entirely attributed to the strain of the forthcoming Olympic games.

"Sure, I'll tell you what's wrong," he agreed when Old Luke pressed him. "I'm in love. Who with? Who could it be but Alice? And she's going to marry Moore!"

Old Luke went to Alice, and when he found her, also, low in spirits remarked that there must be an epidemic.

"I guess I'm afraid," Alice said. "I must be afraid of letting Bob down."

"You're sure there ain't anything else?" Old Luke asked hopefully.

She shook her head.

"Wedding plans all set?" She had confirmed Platt's statement.

"Yes," Alice admitted soberly. "We are to be married the afternoon of the finals, if I get that far. They'll be over about three o'clock."

The elimination races were run, all of them. Alice made incredibly bad starts, every time, but that phenomenal power which she was able to call upon, once she got under way, saved her.

She came up to the semi-finals with the newspapers still exalting. Bob was by no means confident. She would, he told Old Luke, have to do considerably better to win from now on. Her opponents were good. Kinuye Hitomi of Japan was the favorite. Next was a slender little runner from England, and there were contestants from Canada, France and Germany. Alice was the sole American.

The huge stadium was packed for the event. But the crowd did not seem to disturb Alice.

Somewhat to everyone's surprise, she did catch the gun as she never had before, and at forty meters led the field. She ran, however, with no resilience. With the crowd roaring her on, she let Hitomi pass her; and all the others drew up for a finish so close that the second and third places were uncertain until the judges spoke.

"Hitomi, Japan, first," thundered the loud speaker. "Cook, Canada, second. Lathrop, United States, third."

The crowd rose to the last name. Alice, however, was listless as she walked back to the training quarters. Bob forced himself to hide his own misgivings.

"We'll come through," he told her briskly. "You've got three hours to rest before the finals. Make the most of 'em."

To Old Luke, however, he admitted doubt. "Something's gone out of her," he said.

The two wandered disconsolately around until almost time for the race.

Returning, they found Platt at the training quarters ahead of them. He and Alice were standing outside, and Alice was crying. She ran to Old Luke and sobbed in the shelter of his arms.

"What's up, honey?" he demanded.

"Oh, Luke!" she sobbed. "I'm spoiling things for everyone. I'll lose the race for Bob. And I'm driving Platt out of Huntsville. He won't say so, but I shamed him before all his people when I went on the team. He's sold his stock in the bank and is going to live down here in Los Angeles."

"What?" cried Old Luke.

"It's true. He just told me."

"You might," Bob said slowly, "have kept the news from her until after the race. You've done the one thing needed to kill her chance of winning."

He spoke without heat. It was plain that he didn't, himself, think the race as important as other matters weighing on his mind. Into the strained silence which followed came Old Luke's voice, strangely calm.

"Deal all closed?" he asked amiably of Platt.

"To a syndicate in San Francisco," Platt replied.

"Just wound it up?" pursued Old Luke.

"No. Three days ago."

Old Luke laughed aloud as he turned to Bob and Alice. "Platt's trying to work a trick. He's aiming to get back at you, Bob, for coaxing Alice to run. He's telling this cock-and-bull story at the last minute, when we can't check it up, in order to break her nerve. She'll lose the race, and that'll even him up with you, Bob. And then she'll be married before you find out he's lied."

"Platt! It isn't true," Alice cried.

"It's plain, pure bunk!" Platt said contemptuously.

Old Luke shook his head. "Platt's a plain liar," he said, addressing Bob and Alice. "And I can prove it. Platt's father formed the bank Platt's running some forty years ago. He persuaded a lot of his neighbors to buy stock, and in order to protect everybody concerned they all signed an agreement that no stockholder could sell his shares without giving the others a chance to buy. That agreement was to be binding upon any and all heirs Platt's fully aware of the agreement. But maybe he's forgotten that I drew it up."

"Well, what if you did?" demanded Platt belligerently.

"Nothing. Nothing. Except that when you told me a few weeks ago that you were planning to sell out, I knew you were up to something. So I asked about twenty of my friends and neighbors who hold stock to let me know if you approached them about buying. I told 'em to let me know by telegraph or telephone if necessary. But up to ten o'clock this morning, danged if I'd heard from a soul."

Silence followed his triumphant conclusion. "Platt!" Alice broke in with a half question.

"Are you going to believe this old trouble maker?" Platt shouted furiously.

"Here!" Old Luke proposed. "I'll settle this. You tell him, Alice, that you won't marry him until he's proved the sale; and that if he can't prove it you'll never marry him."

"You've promised to marry me this afternoon, Alice!" Platt cried desperately. "A promise is a promise. I hold you to it."

"Is that all you have to tell me, Platt?" Alice asked.

"A promise is a promise," Platt repeated stubbornly.

Alice looked at him, and then snatched her engagement ring from her finger.

"Now!" she cried, and drew a long breath. "I feel I can run like a whirlwind."

"Alice!"

Bob moved toward her, but she slipped away. She flashed a smile at the broadly grinning Luke.

"Take him off, Luke!" she ordered. "I've got my mind on the race, and I'm going to keep it there."

A runner came up to order all the entrants out for the women's hundred meter final. Alice darted back into the training quarters. "Come on," Old Luke said. "We're finished here. Let's get as close to the finish line as we can."

The runners were lining up, Hitomi for Japan, Cook for Canada, Lathrop for the United States. Bob nudged Old Luke as Alice carefully, soberly, and yet with an almost palpable air of gaiety did everything she should have done. She tapped her shoes, to clean the spikes on them, and it was almost as though she were beating a roll upon a drum. She tested the laces, and it was as though she were holding herself down in order to keep from leaping high in pure joy.

Now she was digging her starting holes.

The vast crowd was in an uproar.

"A vous mark!" cried the starter. "Pret!"

The gun cracked.

Three white forms rose from the ground like so many gulls flashing up from the water. Old Luke groaned as he saw that Hitomi had got away in the lead. The three forms came nearer and nearer. It seemed to Old Luke that Alice's white limbs were putting forth more and more power, but at the half-way mark Hitomi still led. By this time, however, the third runner had been hopelessly out-classed and it was entirely a race between Alice and the fleet girl from Japan. And then Alice drove ahead. Her stride lengthened. She crept up a foot at a time. She was a stride behind. A little less. A half stride. She was level with Hitomi. She was, or was she, ahead? She seemed to be, and yet...

They were two strides from the tape. Alice gathered herself and made one final magnificent leap, and it was across her breast that the slender white strand broke.

"Alice!" cried Bob.

The little knot at the finish mark had parted as Alice came at them, and the path was clear.

"Bob!" Alice didn't really speak the word. She had no breath for that. But her lips formed it, as she skimmed across the intervening space. Bob picked her up and strode away.

"Hi!" called one of the judges. "That girl's got a cup coming, and a medal. You can't take her away."

"Bob," cried Old Luke. "Where you heading to?"

"If you want to know," Bob said, "I'm heading to a place where I can kiss this girl and get engaged to her without all Los Angeles looking on."

School Board Lets Contracts

Bids Are Opened For Materials Needed In CWA Work In Schools

REPLACE BOILERS AT AIKEN SCHOOL

Contracts for materials to be used in various CWA projects on schools were let Wednesday night by the new Castle School board. No set quantity of materials is mentioned in the bids but will be ordered as needed by the job. The bids and the successful bidders follow:

Frick Reid Supply Co., galvanized iron sheets, 24 by 96 inches, $3.45 to $3.85 in gauges from 18 to 26.

Kirk, Hutton and Company, flat, soft bars, one-eighth and five-sixteenths inches thick, widths of three-quarter to four inches, $2.90 to $3.35 per hundred pounds.

Piercing Structural Steel, angle iron, one-eighth to one-quarter inches, $2.50 to $3.80.

Spencer Paint and Glass Company, wired factory ribbed glass, $26 per square foot.

Citizens Lumber Company, white pine sheathing, $80 per thousand; yellow pine framing lumber, $50 per thousand.

Kline Lumber and Construction Co., yellow pine sheathing, $45 per thousand.

New Castle Lumber and Construction Co., factory A grade maple, three inch, $72 per thousand.

Citizens Lumber Company, A grade, inch and an eighth finish yellow pine, $110 per thousand.

Giffill Lumber Co., A-1 grade, white pine finish, $120 per thousand.

In addition, the board authorized the purchase of two National cast iron boilers for the Aiken school, from the Withers Company at their bid of $2,731. The money for the boilers is provided in the budget, and does not come out of money appropriated for CWA materials. Another contract let which does not come out of the money appropriated for CWA projects is nine double pitched and two single pitched skylights for use in Franklin Junior High school, from the H. H. Robertson Company at their bid of $1249.50.

G. A. Perry, an unsuccessful bidder on skylights, raised the question of whether the bids conformed to the specifications inasmuch as the underwriters code calls for no more than 720 square inches to a light. Mr. Hyde said that if the lights were properly supported they could exceed 720 square inches, according to advice from the insurance company.

Canal Hearing Is Still In Progress

Railroad Representatives To Present Their Opposition To Project

BEAVER COUNTY OPPOSES COST

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Representatives of railroads in the western Pennsylvania-eastern Ohio section today awaited an opportunity to testify at a hearing on the Beaver-Mahoning rivers canal route before the house rivers and harbors committee.

They were expected to present arguments against the canalization project which would connect Youngstown and the Ohio river.

Meanwhile, members of the committee were digesting the testimony already given at the hearings which have been in progress two days.

Commissioner Howard A. Hunter, Beaver county, told the committee the county "absolutely couldn't bear the expense under the present set-up". This came in response to a query from Representative McDuffie (D) of Alabama. Later McDuffie commented:

"It seems to me we're running into an impossible situation." He then referred to requests by Pennsylvania and Ohio for federal aid for schools and other conditions.

Major General E. M. Markham, chief of army engineers, made the recommendation some time ago that local interests would have to furnish up to $10,000,000 for bridge changes, damage claims and other matters.

The government's expenditures to provide a waterway from the Ohio river to the Youngstown steel district has been set at not more than $37,000,000.

Hunter, in his testimony, pointed out that five bridges in his jurisdiction would either have to be raised or rebuilt at a cost of $1,000,000. This would require a new bond issue which he predicted would be defeated at the polls.

Lawrence county, Pa., and Mahoning county, O., are said to be ready to finance their part in the canalization.

Hunter's testimony contradicted that given at the first session of hearings when Colonel James P. Leaf, former county commissioner, asserted the county could and would bear its share.

Violence Occurs In Taxi Strike

New York Police Outnumbered By Striking Taxi Drivers; Big Riot Occurs

SEVERAL CARS ARE WRECKED

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 22.—Violence in New York City's taxicab strike assumed riot proportions early today as more than 200 policemen found themselves unable to cope with 5,000 irate drivers who swarmed through Times Square district intimidating working drivers and terrorizing after-theatre crowds. Police officials later described the riot as one of the worst in New York's history. Stationing themselves at street intersections the striking drivers waited for the red lights to halt the flow of traffic and then made concerted rushes for every working taxicab in sight.

Cars Are Wrecked

The working drivers were beaten and kicked, doors were torn off the machines and in some instances the cabs were overturned. Police riot squads hurried to the scene at the first flareup of violence, but they appeared to be outnumbered by more than 100 to 1. Time and time again they were driven back as they charged the drivers, night-sticks held poised above their heads, and it was not until the riot had spent itself that any semblance of order was revived.

The rioting started shortly after a mass meeting of the drivers at Germania hall broke up. At the mass meeting the drivers spurned overtures of a settlement made by the owners of large operating companies.

Prison evidently made Ponzi humble, as he says. He hasn't suggested a sure-fire way to save the country.

Students Stage Sympathy Strike

School Board At Ferndale, Near Johnstown, Disregards Strike Of Students

TEACHERS ARE NOT GIVEN CONTRACTS

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Mar. 22.—Without heed to demands of students out on strike in a "school holiday," the Ferndale school board today had voted to terminate contracts with all 31 teachers in their jurisdiction. Earlier in the dispute, 800 students of the Franklin High School walked out and established picket lines because three teachers had been denied contracts. In adjoining Conemaugh, 300 students walked out when the contract of Lawrence Derickson was not renewed.

A mass meeting was scheduled for this afternoon between teachers, students, parents and members of the school board. An "amicable settlement" will be sought at the session, President George Salem of the Franklin school board said.

Grand National Steeplechase To Be Staged Friday

Thousands Will Watch Annual Steeplechase Event At Aintree Track, England

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Mar. 22.—Popular excitement over the grand national steeplechase which has been mounting daily for the past week, reached fever pitch today as the annual trek to Aintree, near Liverpool, began by airplane and automobile.

Wagering grew lively as hundreds of thousands of dollars in stakes were placed on the reigning favorites. In addition millions of dollars invested in lotteries will be distributed according to the outcome of the historic race, greatest and most trying of the turf world.

The race will be run tomorrow at 3:15 p. m. 10:15 E. S. T.

A comparatively small field of 33 starters will line up at the post with odds five to one against a horse completing the grueling 4 1/2 mile run over the Aintree course.

The starting line up will include five American thoroughbreds: Delaneige, owned by J. B. Snow; Thomand and Lone Eagle owned by John Hay Jock; Whitney: Sorley Boy owned by Mrs. J. Ambrose Clark, and Prince Cherry owned by M. D. Blair.

While Miss Paget's great horse Golden Miller, winner of many lesser events and last year's favorite, again ruled at the top of the betting list at 11 to 1.

Lenore Kight Sets Two New Records

Homestead, Pa., Girl Swimmer, Sets New Records In Meet In Boston Pool

(International News Service)
BOSTON, Mar. 22.—Swimming enthusiasts throughout Boston today sung the praises of Miss Lenore Kight of Homestead, Pa.

Darting through the waters of the University club's 25-yard pool against time, Miss Kight broke the women's world records for the 440 and 500-yard free style swimming events.

Officials clocked her at five minutes 30 seconds for the 440 and six minutes 15.2 seconds for the 500-yard mark.

These marks brought the mermaid's total of world records to five. Previously her time for the 300 yards, 500 and 800 meters had been submitted for official adoption.

BROX CHEER FAILS TO STOP THIS ATHLETE

NORMAN, Okla., Mar. 22.—Despite numerous "razzberries" from fellow students, Jack Davis, University of Oklahoma swimmer, continues to carry water wings when he starts for a workout.

Davis ties the water wings to his feet and swims 220 yards daily with his arms only to develop a better arm form and to build up a strong kick by holding onto flutter-boards and swimming six laps daily with his legs only.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Seaman Watson, British feather-weight champion who has fought in the United States successfully defended his title last night at Glasgow, Scotland, when he defeated Johnny McMillan of Scotland in 15 rounds.

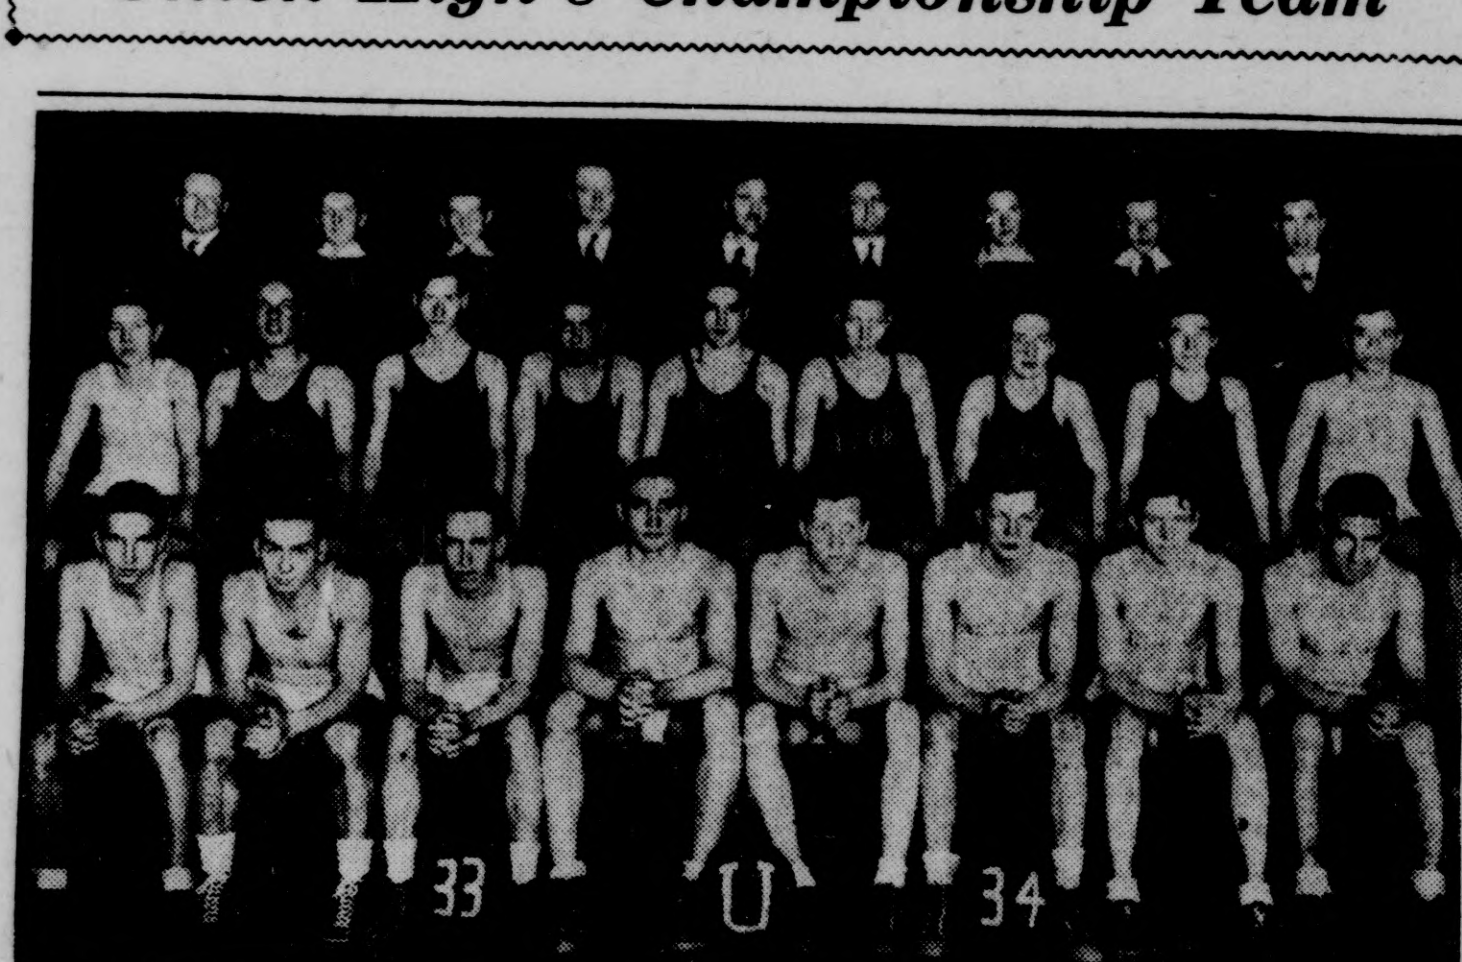

Watson attempted but failed to lift the world's feather-weight crown from the head of Kid Chocolate in battles here.

Following a conference between the state athletic commission and A. A. U. officials at Philadelphia yesterday announcement was made that a reconciliation between the two bodies appears eminent.

Smashing records is not new to Lenore Kight, Homestead, so last night at Boston she fractured two more. She was clocked in five minutes 30 seconds for the 440 free yard style swim and six minutes 15.2 for the 500 free yard style swim.

Bert Pearson of the Hamilton Olympic club, Hamilton, Ont., defeated Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette U. runner in the 60 yard indoor dash at Hamilton, Ont., last night. He turned the trick also in the special 40 yard dash. He tied the Canadian mark of 4.6 seconds.

Union High To Play Alumni In Season Windup

Union High Has Compiled Envious Record, Winning Two Championships

COACH BOYD IS PROUD OF TEAM

Union high school basketball team has hung up a record on the hardwood court this year that will probably stand for quite a few years to come, although there is a faint hope at Union that the 1934-35 quintet will be able to snatch both the Section 18 W. P. I. A. L. and the Lawrence County League titles.

Union's great team this year was coached by David Morgan Boyd, former Springfield college star football and basketball player.

Union will conclude a most brilliant season Friday night with the playing of the game with the Alumni, a team composed of stars of yesteryears, including big Joe Augustyn, Sniezek, Jaworski, Rech brothers, Lannigan, Mottinger and others.

The Alumni will have a fast combination and they would like to take the measure of the Union's crack quintet.

Five Will Graduate. Five of the Union high first stringers will graduate this June leaving the task of Coach Boyd for next year a tough one. Union will miss such well recognized stars as "Red" Boron, and "Dom" Monico, two mighty clever forwards and good floor men, Paul Morrison and Wayne White, two of the cleverest guards in the county and two boys who will be greatly missed, they were dependable and strong defense.

Morrison was also an excellent shot and finished second high in the scoring.

Walter Hughes is the fifth man to graduate and although he has been used as a reserve all year he will be greatly missed next year. The only one of first five to remain next year will be big George Schaa, the sterling center and floor man, who finished third high in scoring.

Expect Big Crowd. Faculty Manager W. L. Burkhardt is making arrangements to take care of a capacity crowd tonight. The Union A. A. led by their president, Ed King, and the hard working "Bill" Sontum, will be out in force Friday night to see the Union stars of today and the stars of other years tangle. It is a night of nights for Union high and the old gym should ring loud and long tonight with the cheers of the fans for the varsity five, the boys who have brought Union glory and honor on the basketball court this year to the extent of two championships.

It can be said here again that Union owns the County League title this year for the first time in the history of the school, and there is just cause for rejoicing.

Union high will practice for the final time tonight.

There will be many a sigh as the boys pull on the suits tomorrow night for the last time as members of Union high.

The Union-Alumni game will start at 8 o'clock.

TO PLAY ELLWOOD. Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the Ne-Ca-Ro basketball team hopes to avenge for a defeat handed them by the Busy Bees of Ellwood City, when the two teams meet at Ellwood City.

It is possible to forgive in-laws anything except your feeling of inferiority.

The Alumni team was made up of former well known New Castle high stars including Battley, Ridley, Miles and Johnny Uram, but they couldn't match the cleverness of the Carroll coached machine.

Engs and Perret were the big guns in the Washington high attack with 20 of the points between them, while Eddie Donegan was a tower of strength on the defense and added seven points to the score.

Battley and Maher were the high scorers for the Alumni with six points apiece. The Washington high team led all during the game. It was 11 to 9 at the half.

In the preliminary game the 8B1 team defeated the 7A1 team 15 to 5 with Stitt and Delrinpece the stars. The seventh and eighth grade champs and the ninth and tenth grade champs will be decided this afternoon at the school gym.

South Side School Passers Capture 18 Victories During 1933-34 Season

By defeating the strong Scholastic Midgets, 13-11, Tuesday afternoon, the Lincoln and Garfield basketball team closed the 1933-34 season with 18 victories and only two defeats.

The South Side school passers looked the part of a smooth combination as they triumphed over the Scholastics, who not long ago handed the Lincoln team a defeat. The Pollock Five, 7B1, Cunningham Midgets, Mercer Midgets, Panther Midgets, Pearson Five and Sciota Five were among the teams which fell by the wayside to the fast Lincoln quintet.

Charles Christopher, coach of the team, stated yesterday that this year's team was one of the best ever turned out at this institution. Through graduation Christopher loses his whole first team, which includes Sam Pellegrini, Tony Moses, Elias Charlie, Tony Pisano, Sam Deep, Earl Altman and Joe Reda.

James Cole, Donald Henry, Mike Pagley and Peter Ambrose, the remainder of the roster, are among the passers who will vie for positions on the Lincoln basketball team next season.

Athletics To Have Whole New Lineup

Connie Mack Is Not Enthusiastic Over Chances Of Athletics This Year

Grove, Cochrane, Bishop, Dykes And Earnshaw Gone; Makes Big Difference

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

PORT MYERS, Fla., Mar. 22—The venerable old man of the dugouts, Mr. Cornelius Mack, is back here once more in this land of the sunlit sidewalk, going through the same old motions in pretty much the same old way, only this time it's different. They're really only motions now. Before, he always had the illusion that he was building toward the future. But at seventy-odd, when you've sold everything except the mortgage, you cannot delude yourself that the future is anything but a bird with a broken wing and you view a change of any kind with vague alarm. There have been tremendous changes here.

It is the first time in years, for example, that it has been possible to visit the place without encountering the dour, forbidding glower of Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove. The latter, I suspect, is really a charming fellow at heart and only looks glum because he's innately considerate and does not wish to inflict his happiness on the rest of the world.

Grove-Cochran Gone
But he could and probably still can pitch that baseball right down the middle of your negligence and Mr. Mack is too old ever to see it like again. He's one that Mr. Mack sold during a twenty-four hour orgy of high and lofty finance last winter, while telling the press that it certainly ought to be a fine day, provided it didn't stop.

Another sale removed Mickey Cochrane, a great catcher, to Detroit where he is now managing the club, and a third sent George Earnshaw on his rollicking way to the Chicago White Sox, while Rube Walberg and Max Bishop went to Boston with Grove. In other words Mr. Mack now has everything except pitchers and catchers.

Great as these changes may be, the greatest is in Mr. Mack himself. He knows now that he has managed his last champion.

"I have some good young pitchers in camp," he said in an odd, hesitating way today. "But young pitchers are a gamble. They may come through for you splendidly or they may fail you when you need them most. That's my problem this year. Of course, I make no attempt to deny that we'll miss Grove and Cochrane but, if we get pitching, we'll have a club that will be in the fight from first to last. There aren't any other questions it can't or won't answer."

Mahaffey-Cain
Two of the pitchers who will try to win where Grove stopped are Roy Mahaffey and "Sugar" Cain, right handers from last year. As a matter of fact, there isn't a left hander in the camp. John Marcum, fast-ball pitcher from the American Association is supposed to round out a trinity of starting pitchers that will make Philadelphia forget Grove, Earnshaw and Walberg.

If he doesn't, there is Harry Matuzak from Oklahoma City, whom

Mack thinks well of, and a plausible young man from Jersey City named Jose Cascarola.

Plenty of Talent
The rest of his possibilities in this direction are Bill Dietrich back from Montreal for another trial; Tim McKeithan, the collegian and Al Benton and Vernon Kennedy, from Oklahoma City. Meantime Bob Kline, who came from the Red Sox in the Grove deal, is unavailable because of a chipped bone in his elbow.

Charley Berry, from the White Sox, and Ed Majeski, from the bullpen, are to make Philadelphia forget Cochrane and they couldn't do that if they both caught together. The rest of it is highly simplified. On first base is the greatest hitter in baseball, Jimmy Foxx. A third is Frank Higgins, the best in the league. McNair's arm has come back and he'll go a full season at shortstop with Williams shifted over to second base to replace Bishop. The Toledo infielder, George Detore has looked pretty good down here and any time anybody goes wrong, Rabbit Warstler, from the Red Sox is ready to move in.

Mr. Mack professes to be greatly elated by the fact that Ed Coleman is hitting as he did two years ago, thus rounding out an outfield with Cramer and Johnson Lou Finney, who has supposed to hit the headlines but didn't, is still around and old Bing Miller somehow hangs on.

Listless Trading In Market
Today As Rail And
Auto Disputes
Continue

U. S. STEEL IS OFF FRACTIONS

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, Mar. 22.—The stock market moved irregularly lower in listless trading today as the auto and labor disputes continued to dominate trading sentiment.

The gold shares which appeared to be the only group in demand, McIntyre, Alaska Juneau and Dome were taken in moderate volume for gains running to nearly a point.

United States Steel and other industrial shares continued to be characterized by dribbling liquidation and sold down fractionally. General Motors attempted to buck the trend from the start but failed to get anywhere. Chrysler, Auburn and the auto accessory shares appeared to be plentiful on the offering side and declined moderately.

Better action of New York Central, Atchison and Union Pacific inspired some degree of confidence in the rails where a moderately stronger tone was in evidence.

The commodity markets were under pressure despite the weakness of the dollar which got to the low point since devaluation. Wheat, corn and the other grains declined from 1/4 to 1/2 cent a bushel, cotton lost about 40 cents a bale with the December contract lower than at any time since Feb. 3. Rubber dropped from 4 to 12 points and silver about 35 points.

The utility shares showed some demand centering in Columbia Gas, Chemicals, aviation, oils, specialties were quiet.

Verdict Of Guilty
In Mattocks Case

Jury Out All Night—Recommends Mattocks To The Leniency Of Court

After being out all night a jury in the case of the Commonwealth against Ray Mattocks, which was tried before Judge James A. Chambers in county court, brought in a verdict of guilty as indicted, with a recommendation for the leniency of the court.

Mattocks who was secretary of the Ellwood City school board, was charged with the embezzlement of funds amounting to $2,029.65. He denied that he had appropriated any of the school funds to his own use, claiming that the apparent deficiency was the result of the system of bookkeeping. At the trial of the case auditors who had gone over his accounts, were the principal witnesses.

The jury, which was composed of four women and eight men, retired shortly after 2 o'clock yesterday. Toward evening they came in for further instructions, and this morning again came in for additional instructions.

The jury was composed of Maude E. Burdett, fourth ward, New Castle; Lillie Chapman, second ward, Lillian Dean, Slippery Rock township; Robert Coates, Volant; George W. Lusk, second ward, New Castle; Chester McCance, Union township; C. W. Mayberry, Neshannock township; Howard W. Michael, Pulaski township; Ethel Newman, Hickory township; Jesse Veach, Pulaski; John H. White, second ward; and David Zimmerman, Pulaski.

An election of officers to serve during the coming year was held with the following results: President, Mrs. R. E. Bell; vice president, Mrs. J. D. Swick; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. William Slade; assistant, Mrs. Joseph Ford; literature, Mrs. Stanley Haddock and stewardship, Mrs. James Jennings.

Plans were formulated for the Women's Missionary Society of the Trinity Lutheran church last night at the home of Mrs. C. F. Blank on Sixth street. Mrs. C. F. Christiansen was the leader on the occasion. There were 19 present.

The subject for the evening was "The Lutheran Young People Answer". An interesting discussion was held on this. It was announced that on April 8, 15 and 22 a stereopticon lecture on missions will be given in the church. This will be open to the public. Also plans were formulated for their annual mothers and daughters banquet, which will be held some time in May.

The next meeting of the society will take place at the home of Mrs. Harry Felton. The subject for this occasion will be "The New Patriotism".

Local Team Continues Winning Streak To Win 28-21 At Beaver Falls

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 22.—Ellwood high passers, under the name of the Ellwoodians, continued their past pace in independent basketball last night by winning their seventh consecutive victory. The victim last night was the St. Mary's Reserves of Beaver Falls. The final score was 28-21. The game was played at Beaver Falls.

It took the Ellwoodians a little time to get started and the close of the initial stanza found them at a 5-2 disadvantage. In the ensuing period the invaders unleashed a dazzling passing attack that bewildered the home team which was out half time read 14-11 for the Ellwoodians. They continued to outplay their opponents for the remainder of the game.

Ken Bunney and Regis McFadden played a bang-up game for the winners, scoring eight points apiece, although Lamento, Latiano and Robuck figured in the offensive attack and scoring.

Urges Committee To Modify Stock Control Measure

President Richard Whitney Of New York Stock Exchange Reiterates Viewpoints

WOULD DISRUPT SECURITY MARKET

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Reiterating that the new Rayburn stock market regulation bill would have disastrous effects upon business, President Richard Whitney of the New York stock exchange today appealed to the house interstate commerce committee to modify the measure.

Whitney told the committee that his protest was supported by the organized exchanges of the country. He said:

"I wish to state as emphatically as I can that it is my belief, based upon my experience, that adoption of the bill in its present form would seriously disrupt our organized security markets and American business."

Drive Business Away.

"It is impossible to forecast what the result would be if the market for listed securities were destroyed. It is certain that such event would bring untold loss to individual security owners, and indefinite delay to the present recovery program."

"In addition it would also tend to drive the security business of the country away from the organized stock exchanges and into the unorganized over-the-counter markets which exist in every financial center."

While declaring that the bill is fundamentally wrong, Whitney suggested changes which he said would limit its bad effects.

Blames Parents For Crime Waves

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Mar. 22.—Major Lynn G. Adams, superintendent of the Pennsylvania State Police, attributes the cause of modern crime waves to parents who "have failed in their responsibilities."

Addressing several hundred fathers here, Major Adams estimated that probably 90 per cent of the criminals under 25 years of age come from homes that have been broken up.

"Take more stock in how you are bringing up your boy," he urged. "You can't expect him to be any better than you are."

Knitting Goods Workers Strike

Production Halted In 45 Knitting Mills In Philadelphia Area

(International News Service) PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 22.—Demanding union recognition, higher wages and improved shop conditions, 2800 organized knit goods workers walked out on strike here today, halting production in 45 mills.

Officials of the Knit Goods Workers' Union claimed that more than 4,000 members will be on strike before the day is done.

The strike was voted last night at a mass meeting in defiance of the urgent plea of Jacob Billikopf, chairman of the Regional Labor board, that the walkout be postponed and the labor differences submitted to arbitration.

Meanwhile, the strike situation here became acute as agitation was renewed for another general walk-out at the E. G. Budd Automobile Body Manufacturing Company. Automobile workers' union officers declared such a strike, involving some 7,000 employees, is imminent.

Modify Drastic Provisions In Air Mail Bill

Claim Measure As Proposed Would Not Be Fair To Several Companies

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—House sponsors of the administration's air mail bill today decided to modify drastic provisions barring lines whose contracts were cancelled from submitting new bids.

This action was taken at a conference attended by Rep. Mead (D) of New York, chairman of the house postoffice committee, officials of the postoffice department and committee members. Decision to liberalize the bill came in the face of reports that a substitute measure was being prepared by administration leaders.

All Lines To Bid.

Mead said the bill will be amended to allow all air lines to bid for new contracts if they "cleaned house". He said the companies must rid themselves of all officials found guilty of illegal practices in securing former contracts.

"By reorganizing their personnel and dropping officers who have entered into combinations to restrain bidding these companies would become eligible to bid," Mead said.

The provision barring all lines owned, or partly owned, by any other aviation group from bidding also will be amended to allow other aviation groups to possess 10 per cent of the bidder's stock. There is a compromise with the senate bill, offered by Senator O'Mahoney (D) of Wyoming, permitting a 20 per cent leeway.

Lake Coal Train, First This Year, Moves Over R.R.

Road's 63-Car Train Carries Canadian Shipment; Ore Also Moving

(International News Service) ROSEBURG, Ore. — An army bugle has been substituted for the mailman's whistle in the Callahan Trail settlement on the summit of the coast range, west of Roseburg.

The settlement, recently opened by C.C.C. workers, enjoys "magnificent distances" so to save time and useless walking each settler has been assigned a certain call. Upon arrival of the mail at the L. W. Smith homestead, L. P. Dryden, official bugler, notifies each homesteader if mail has been received for him by sounding a call on the bugle. The system operates over a radius of three miles.

Texas has 18,868 miles of highway, more than any other state in the Union.

Heralding the approach of spring and the resumption of shipping activity on Lake Erie, a 63-car coal train, the first lake-bound coal train to pass thru here this year, rolled through the district this morning over the Pennsylvania lines.

The train, bound from the Pittsburgh mining district for the Pennsylvania docks at Erie, carried coal consigned, it was believed, for Canadian industries and railroads.

Road officials expressed the belief that lake shipping is soon to be commenced as a result of the movement.

The Pennsylvania also announced today that its first shipment of ore out of Ashtabula this year passed thru the district on Wednesday, bound for the Jones & Laughlin plant at Aliquippa. The ore is kept in storage at the Ashtabula Harbor docks and shipped out as orders come. Yesterday's first train was 20 cars long.

According to officials of the E. & A. division the Pennsylvania car ferry, "The Ashtabula," has not yet resumed its trips between Ashtabula and its Canadian port.

House Revenue Bill Ready For Senate; Levies Many Taxes

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Re-imposing nearly all of the miscellaneous taxes and adding a capital stock levy, the $300,000,000 House revenue bill was ready for consideration in the Senate today.

The capital stocks levy of one-tenth of one per cent will raise about $95,000,000.

Income tax schedules fixed by the House were not altered. They follow:

Four per cent of the net income of every individual in excess of the exemptions allowed, which were $1,000 for single persons, $2,500 for married couples and $400 for each child. A 10 per cent tax slash would be allowed on earned income up to $20,000.

Surtaxes, ranging from four per cent on incomes of more than $4,000 and not more than $8,000, to 59 per cent on those of more than $100,000.

Senator LaFollette (R) of Wisconsin failed to raise surtaxes and also to increase the inheritance levies. The committee, however, raised the maximum tax on estates of $10,000,000 or more from 40 to 45 per cent, and those in lower brackets of inheritances to yield $7,000,000 more.

A drive by Senator Harrison (D) of Mississippi, the committee chairman, to abolish all of the miscellaneous taxes except that on gasoline, failed.

Will Confer On Changing Code

Would Revise Several Provisions Of Steel Industry Code Due To Criticism

NEW SET-UP OF PRICES WANTED

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—NRA officials in charge of the steel code today arranged to confer with the code authority to revise certain provisions which brought sharp criticism from the federal trade commission and a critical attack in the senate by Senator Borah (R) of Idaho.

The commission's report, Borah said, supported his charges that the code, in its present form, permits monopoly and stifles competition through price control.

Want New Set-up.

Division Administrator Kenneth M. Simpson in charge of the code was told that President Roosevelt wants a new set-up of price provisions in view of the commission's findings.

Borah insisted that congress restore prosecutions under anti-trust laws to protect small business from domination by big interests. He declared labor unrest in the industry will continue if monopolistic practices are allowed to stand. He also said such practices affect consumers' prices.

Borah said restoration of the anti-trust laws would not interfere with the fair execution of the recovery act and added:

"I am rather inclined to think that there are business organizations which would lose all interest in the NRA if they were not permitted under color of law, to do the things which conscience and justice demand that they shall not do."

MONKEY ATE CATNIP, THEN WRECKED STORE

(International News Service) SAN FRANCISCO.—Joe Ringtail, prize monkey at a downtown pet shop here, was in the doghouse, or the monkey equivalent of it, after a night of riotous revelry in which he nearly wrecked the shop.

Stealing out of his cage, which had been accidentally left unlocked, he found a large chunk of catnip on a shelf. One nip was enough to send him careening around the shop, to the consternation of goldfish, birds and rabbits.

When police arrived, Joe was cowering in the corner of his cage, while Mrs. Ringtail belabored him with teeth and paws.

Smith Resigns Post As Editor

For Business Reasons Alfred E. Smith Quits Job Of Editing Magazine

(International News Service) NEW YORK, Mar. 22.—Business interests were given the sole reason for his resignation as editor-in-chief of the "New Outlook" by Alfred E. Smith in correspondence made public today between Smith and Frank A. Tichenor, publisher of the periodical.

There was no indication in the correspondence that the resignation of the former Democratic presidential nominee had resulted from a disagreement with the editorial policy of the magazine. Tichenor is a Republican.

A published report held that Smith's resignation developed from the acceptance of an article for the magazine which criticized the Roosevelt administration on air mail policy.

Chilton Declares Need Of Canal Is Vital Here

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 22.—Construction of the Beaver-Mahoning canal is vital to the industrial life of New Castle, Pa., Alfred W. Chilton, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that city, told the house rivers and harbors committee today.

"At the present time we are a landlocked area comprising the third largest steel center in the country," he said.

Chilton charged transportation rates were so preferential to other steel areas that his section would be unable to survive much longer.

Approval of the canal also was voiced before the committee by Donald Maclean, representing the Mississippi Valley association. He said the entire Mississippi valley region would derive great benefits through construction of the waterway.

Japanese Physician Cannot Forgive Slight
(International News Service) DENVER.—Because false charges had been brought against him, Dr. H. Kunitomo, Japanese physician, declared he would return to his native land after practicing in Denver for 35 years.

"My people cannot take lightly a disgrace like this," he continued. "My conscience has been burning with the thought of this shame when every minute I have known I was wholly innocent."

Dr. Kunitomo was charged with performing an illegal operation. Charges were dropped when the complaining witness repudiated her statements.

What Is Sure for You At 65?
Most men look forward to a time when they can lean back, say, "That's all" and spend their sunset years between a golf course, a book and a good cigar. Men that realize this dream, however, are those who make definite plans for it.
